CHURCH OF ENGLAND CLERGY DEMAND PAY RISE FOR FIRST TIME IN 500 YEARS

Even the vicars are not immune from the rising cost of living. Unite, the trade union that represents more than 2,000 clergy and lay officers in the Church of England, said on Monday that it has demanded a 9.5% increase in the stipend that the clergy receive, to be paid from April 2024. "The Church of England has billions in the bank and can fully afford to pay its clergy the modest increase in their stipend they are seeking," the trade union added.

IndiGo's jumbo Airbus order

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

INDIGO, India's largest airline by fleet size, placed a mammoth order for 500 Airbus A320 family aircraft at the Paris Air Show on Monday. This is the largest single order placed by any airline with Airbus and surpasses the Tatas owned Air India's order for 470 aircraft placed in March this year.

The deal value for the 500 planes is pegged at $50 billion but IndiGo will get a hefty discount thanks to the huge order size and its long relationship with European aerospace company Airbus.

IndiGo will receive deliveries of these planes between 2030 and 2035. The engine selection for this order will be done in due course and so will the exact mix of A320 and A321 aircraft. For engines, IndiGo will have the option to strike a deal with CFM or Pratt & Whitney.

At present, IndiGo operates about 310 aircraft. It has already placed orders for a total of 480 planes, which will be delivered by the end of 2030. With the additional order of 500 aircraft, IndiGo's order book has nearly 1,000 aircraft to be delivered over the next decade. The order book comprises a mix of A320NEO, A321NEO and A321XLR aircraft.

The airline recently wet-leased (leasing aircraft along with crew and engineers) two-wide body Boeing planes to operate on the India-Turkey route.

IndiGo has aggressive plans for the international market and is said to be in talks with Airbus as well as its rival company Boeing for 25 wide-body planes.

The latest order by IndiGo comes at a time when its market share touched an all-time high of 61.4% in May after Go First suspended operations on May 3 and declared bankruptcy.

This year, IndiGo expects to onboard 10 crore customers which it believes is equivalent to giving wings to the nation.

PM may unveil Rafale-M deal on Bastille Day

Will be guest of honour in France on July 17

SHAHID FARIDI @ New Delhi

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi is likely to announce a multi-billion dollar deal to acquire 26 Rafale Marine fighter jets during his visit to France. The Prime Minister will be in France on July 17 as the guest of honour at the Bastille Day parade.

This paper was the first to report that the Indian Navy has expressed its preference for the deck-based French Rafale Marine over the F-18 Super Hornets of the US. Their price is yet to be revealed, but sources said these multi-role carrier-borne fighters will be cheaper than those the Indian Air Force bought earlier. They will be bought through a government-to-government deal instead of taking the open tender route.

The Navy has been scouting for a suitable fighter to be deployed on aircraft carrier INS Vikrant to replace its aging MiG 29Ks. Sources said its quest ended with Dassault's Rafale Marine, which has over 80% features of the IAF's Rafales. The savings that will result on account of training, repairs and maintenance due to the commonality of the fleet made the Navy prefer the French fighter.

Sources said besides the fleet commonality, the Navy brass was impressed by the Rafale-M's capabilities during a joint exercise and the operational demonstration test conducted in India. After the tests, the Navy informed the Defence Ministry that Rafale-M was best suited for its needs. The ministry has worked out a detailed maintenance, spares and training contract, which includes building an on-board maintenance facility on INS Vikrant and one on the ground in Goa. The fighters will be equipped with sophisticated maritime systems, including maritime search radars capable of detecting submarines, besides warships.

India is working on a long-term plan to develop indigenous deck-based fighters in association with HAL. These twin-engine fighters are developed by the Aeronautical Development Agency and will be manufactured by HAL. The aircraft, first displayed at Aero India 2021, will take a few years for deployment. The Navy has, therefore, decided to go in for an outright purchase to meet its short-term needs.

Maha support to Goa to halt Mahadayi project

NAUSHAD BIJAPUR @ Belagavi

MERELY days after the change of guard in Karnataka with Congress assuming power, Maharashtra Chief Minister Eknath Shinde has expressed his support to the BJP government in Goa against diversion of Mahadayi waters. At a meeting in Mumbai recently, Shinde said that his government will support Goa to prevent diversion of Mahadayi waters by Karnataka to implement its Kalasa-Banduri Nala Project. Goa CM Pramod Sawant also attended the meeting. "Goa and Maharashtra together will fight the Mahadayi issue against Karnataka," Shinde said.

Shinde's statement comes at a time when the Karnataka government obtained official approval to divert Mahadayi waters into the Malaprabha river in the state through Kalasa-Banduri Nala Project.

The Centre has not only cleared the revised detailed project report but has also notified it in the gazette.

Despite this, the Goa government is not leaving any stone unturned to halt Karnataka from diverting water from the Mahadayi river.

Doddanekundi, Anjanapura & Hoysala Nagar see encroachment clearance drives

BJP ex-MLA 'snatches' bulldozer keys to halt demolition drive

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

WHEN Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) officials moved in with bulldozers in KR Puram Monday to clear encroachments, former BJP MLA Nandiesh Reddy allegedly snatched vehicle keys, and asked officials to stop the drive.

BBMP's SWD department officials and Mahadevapura Zone engineers, along with land surveyors and the local police, began their encroachment clearance drive Monday morning.

While it was going on at Doddanekundi's survey numbers 24/1, 3, 4, and 5, passing through Fern City Layout, villa residents began objecting. Soon, Reddy arrived at the scene, and asked the officials to stop the drive. The engineers alleged Reddy snatched the keys of a bulldozer.

A BBMP engineer clarified they were complying with the orders of the tahsildar. "Despite objections, with help from around 50 police personnel, the compound wall, clubhouse building, swimming pool, sewage treatment plant, portions of buildings and compound wall, which were illegally constructed on the 200-m long storm water drain, were removed," said the engineer.

Watching the demolition action, Reddy told media persons that BBMP should first remove storm water drain obstructions. "Demolishing homes and properties in Fern City will push people on to the streets," he said.

Senior officials of the storm water drain department said that encroachment clearance drives were conducted at Doddanekundi, Anjanapura and Hoysala Nagar in Mahadevapura Zone Monday. The drive also saw the demolition of commercial establishments and a car service station.

Bulldozers were pressed into service at Anjanapura ward in Bommanahalli to clear encroachments on BDA approved Layout, and two shops, illegally constructed on park land, were razed.

Senior SWD engineers held meetings with lawyers, and discussed what recourse could be taken to file a caveat against 21 encroachers in Munnekollal. "Most of the owners have built PG accommodations, and filed writ petitions in the Karnataka HC against the tahsildar's eviction order under various sections of the Karnataka Land Revenue Act. They have obtained stay orders. The legal team has been asked to file caveat soon," said an engineer of the Mahadevapura Zone.

Byregowda holds meet on flood control

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

To control the flood that may occur in the city during monsoon, Revenue Minister Krishna Byregowda held a meeting with BBMP Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath and officials at Suvarna Soudha department office Monday.

Officials were informed about the renovation of city canals and lining the revenue area around the canal. They also discussed building protective walls around the canals and diverting treated sewage water into empty lakes outside the city.

"Lakes should be developed and utilised. In areas where there is flooding, water should be diverted to lakes. Officials should identify the lakes and areas in the city prone to flooding," said Byregowda.

Girinath said there was also a discussion on the National Disaster Mitigation Fund and proposal for the World Bank. "Based on the minister's directions, the Palike will send a proposal to the government," he said.

An official said the Palike had earlier sent a proposal for assistance from the World Bank, and based on the direction, some changes will be made in the fresh proposal.

Guidance value revision soon

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

AFTER five years, the state government is likely to revise the guidance value and it will be as per the market value, said Revenue Minister Krishna Byregowda here on Monday.

He told reporters that the guidance value is normally revised once in two years, but it has not been done since 2018. It could be because of Covid, he added.

He said it will be grave injustice to farmers if the guidance value is not revised. But it cannot be done all of a sudden. "It will be brought into force after discussions. The government will take a decision soon," he said.

The use of Cauvery 2.0 software, which started a few weeks ago, has already brought in chances in the department. By Saturday, all the 256 sub-registrar offices across the state will have software, he said. All property-related documents can be uploaded onto software which will be checked by the sub-registrar online. The fee can be paid online which will prevent any irregularities and increase revenues for the government, he added. Many districts are recording higher property registrations, which itself speaks for the success of software. With this software, the entire process can be completed within 15 minutes, he added.

Minister Krishna Byregowda at Vikasa Soudha on Monday | NAGARAJA GADEKAL

The department collected Rs 3,221 crore between April and June second week in 2022. It has gone up to Rs 3,425 crore in the corresponding period this year. "Last year, a discount of 10 per cent was given on guidance value. This year, there is no discount and the use of technology has helped increase the collection by Rs 200 crore in two-and-a-half months. As the Ashada masa (not auspicious to buy property) is on, we expect a dip in the number of registrations and revenue collection," he added.

HC gives govt 12 weeks to redo ward delimitation

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Monday directed the state government to redo the delimitation of BBMP wards within 12 weeks.

A division bench of Chief Justice Prasanna B Varale and Justice MG Kamal passed the order after hearing the appeal filed by former mayor BN Manjunatha Reddy and others, against the single-judge order on September 16, 2022, upholding the delimitation notification on July 14, 2022 by the then BJP government to hold BBMP elections.

The verdict comes after advocate general Shashikiran Shetty submitted that it is inevitable that delimitation of wards has to be redone as the government has to rectify the errors found in the delimitation process, notified by the previous government, which requires time.

The BBMP Act allowed the state government to increase the number of wards to 243 from 198 in January 2021, and a final notification was issued regarding delimitation. A batch of petitions was filed challenging the notification, but a single judge upheld the final notification.

The appellants argued that the committee, formed to submit the report on ward delimitation, was required to strictly adhere to the guidelines laid down by the government, but it had committed glaring errors in ward delimitation. They also contended that delimitation will improve urban governance and public participation.

BMTC has intensified checking on buses to penalise ticketless passengers. In May, they collected ₹6.96 lakh as penalty. BMTC staffers went on 14,710 trips, penalised 3,659 ticketless passengers, and booked 1,288 cases against conductors for dereliction of duty, a release said Monday.

In May, 334 male passengers were penalised for occupying seats reserved for women, and ₹34,400 was collected as penalties in accordance with the KMV Rules 94 read with Section 177 of the MV Act 1988.

BMTC said passengers should purchase tickets and passes to avoid not only being penalised but also embarrassed. It will also help the transport corporations provide better services. The bus corporations have also suggested that women passengers occupy seats reserved for them.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

20TH June : We now know that is water on the red planet, Mars – at least to judge by the consequences of what look like recent floods. I don't need to tell you that this news makes it even more likely that we could survive on this alien planet. Mind you, I'd rather stay here! At least until they can promise me a comfortable landing!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
If there's any way in which you can develop your social contacts, do so now, while the stars are encouraging friendship. In your eyes, the most attractive people will be those who can take responsibility for you. But, if you rely on others, you'll surrender control. Is that really worth it? Perhaps not.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
It's more than likely that career worries could be out of place. Your concerns seem to be based around doubts as to whether you can handle prospective responsibilities. All you have to do is believe in yourself. After all, if you have faith in your own powers, you'll exude confidence and attract others.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
You are really perfectly justified in feeling quietly optimistic about the future, but make sure that your confidence is firmly founded in plans which are practical as well as original. The best way forward is to concentrate on increasing your skills.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
There are many indications as to what the combined influence of friends' and family members' demands will be on your private life. The problem is that there are too many! The advantage is that so many doors are now set to open that you can pick and choose.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
It's still seems somewhat inevitable that you'll have to put others' interests first. There's no reason why this shouldn't be thoroughly enjoyable, if only because it gives you a chance to relax a little. Frankly, you could do with a change of scene!

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Your classic qualities of self-sacrifice and service to humanity are straining for recognition. It's important to draw a line between being genuinely helpful to others and allowing them to unfairly exploit you. It's all a matter of being fair - but firm.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
There's more than one powerful lunar alignment around the corner, and if you want to prepare for the coming upheaval now, press ahead with all personal plans. Arrange romantic encounters, finalise social ambitions and get your priorities in order.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
It's time for optimism - and there's no point in worrying that the worst will happen. An unusual amount of helpful planetary activity in your chart gives you every reason to believe that at last your hopes and wishes will be granted. You may put your family first and everything else second.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
You should have little trouble making the most of the positive trends that are helping to revitalise your life at the moment. You may talk to others, especially people you live with, about your feelings, and deal with all those feelings of frustration at home.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
It's difficult to know just what to do for the best. Personal and family affairs are still soaking up too much of your valuable resources. It's all a question of being disciplined and knowing when to say 'no', including when to say it to yourself!

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
You still seem to be firmly in the driving seat, and today is an ideal moment to implement sweeping changes at home, hopefully while other people are looking the opposite way. You should care for partners' interests as best you can, especially if they have been good to you in the past.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
This period is partly about action, but also about dreams. Could this therefore be a day for fantasy? The answer is "yes", although you'll have a wonderful way of giving your visions practical form. Actually, as long as you believe in what you're doing, you're a great deal more practical than many people think.

Special admin officers will run govt hosps

The officers, with a term of 3-5 yrs, will be responsible for efficient administration, improving healthcare facilities

AKNISREE KARTHIK
@ Bengaluru

IN a bid to streamline discrepancies and irregularities in government hospitals, and address the concerns of patients, the Karnataka government is contemplating appointing Special Administrative Officers to government-run hospitals. The special officer is expected to have a term of 3-5 years and will be responsible for streamlining the running of the hospital and improving healthcare facilities in the hospital.

Sources aware of the development said the Special Administrative Officer will be in charge of hospital administration, and be the one-point contact between the Commissionerate of Health and Family Welfare Service and the state government.

Despite the government providing all the necessary facilities, patients visiting government hospitals have one or other complaint. Some hospitals in Bengaluru and districts in Karnataka lack basic facilities, crucial medical devices, drugs and staff to serve patients. Keeping all these things in mind, the government is contemplating appointing special officers who will have the crucial role of taking stock of the situation and troubleshooting to bring in an efficient system in government-run hospitals. The officer will have to conduct review meetings every week and record the progress of the hospital, the source maintained.

It may be noted that Health Minister Dinesh Gundu Rao, who visited K C General Hospital in the city last week, noticed several discrepancies like an inoperational mortuary, nonfunctional wards, lack of wheelchairs and drinking water facilities, among others. The situation in government-run hospitals in Bengaluru and across the state is no better, the source said.

State Health Commissioner D Randeep told TNIE, "The government will have to examine the matter and a decision of appointing a Special Administrative Officer will have to be taken at the government level. However, the appointment of such officers will improve the overall hospital administration, streamline the procurement process and help create a direct line of reporting and accountability to the commissionerate and state government."

HC: Divorce granted for 'cruelty' under Marriage Act, no case under IPC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

CRIMINAL proceedings of 'cruelty' under Section 498A IPC cannot be permitted to continue against the husband when a decree of divorce has been granted to the wife on the basis of 'cruelty' due to non-consummation of marriage, defined under Section 12(1)(a) of the Hindu Marriage Act, the Karnataka High Court said.

Justice M Nagaprasanna passed the order while allowing a petition filed by a 33-year-old techie with a reputed firm in the city and his aged parents, questioning criminal proceedings against them under Section 498(A) IPC by the wife, a technical supporter in a firm. "The only allegation is that the husband is a follower of Brahmakumari; always watched videos of a certain sister Shivani, a Brahmakumari; got inspired watching the videos; maintained that love is never getting physical but should be soul to soul. He never intended to have a physical relationship with his wife. This would undoubtedly amount to cruelty due to noncaonsummation of marriage under Section 12(1)(a) of the Hindu Marriage Act, and not cruelty as defined under Section 498A of the IPC. It is on the basis of such cruelty that a decree of divorce is granted to the complainant-wife and on the same basis, criminal proceedings cannot be permitted to be continued against the husband," the court noted.

The couple got married in December 2019 and their relationship turned sour within 28 days of their marriage. She walked out of her husband's house and registered a complaint with JP Nagar police under Section 498A of IPC and Section 12(a)(a) of the Hindu Marriage Act, seeking annulment of marriage on the grounds of cruelty.

The marriage was annulled by the family court as the wife proved it is a voidable marriage owing to impotency of the husband. Meanwhile, police filed a chargesheet against the husband and his parents, who knocked on the doors of the high court. The petitioners' counsel argued that the parents had been dragged into the case without reason. Also, allegations against the husband would not qualify as an offence under Section 198A.

The wife's counsel contended that the marriage was annulled in November 2022 but she wanted to pursue criminal proceedings as it amounted to cruelty. The court said it was alleged the husband played sister Shivani's preachings day and night, and forced his wife to watch them too. Therefore, the allegation is that being a follower of Brahmakumari Samaja, he could not have married her and this amounts to cruelty. Since her in-laws never stayed with the couple, the chargesheet does not make out charges of cruelty for dowry, the HC added.

Food delivery boy dies after car hits his bike

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A 25-year-old food delivery boy was killed on the spot after a speeding car hit his two-wheeler near Rajarajeshwari Nagar Metro Station in the wee hours of Monday. An investigation revealed that the accused car driver was driving under the influence of alcohol.

The deceased has been identified as Prasanna Kumar, a native of HD Kote in Mysuru. He was working at a hotel, while also working as a food delivery boy during his free time.

Police said Kumar was going to Rajarajeshwari Nagar to deliver an order when the mishap occurred. At around 1.45 am, a car that was driven recklessly hit him from the rear and sped away. The impact was such that Kumar was tossed in the air and killed on the spot.

"As we received information about the incident, the car was intercepted about a kilometre away from the spot and the driver was taken into custody. Irked by the incident, local residents smashed the windshield of the car, but the police intervened and pacified them," the police said.

Investigation revealed that the accused, Vinayak, who works as a sales representative with a private firm, had gone to a party with his friends on Sunday night.

"There were four people in the car including two girls, who escaped after the accident. Vinayak was on his way to drop his friend at Rajarajeshwari Nagar, when the accident occurred. It is found that he was driving under the influence of alcohol. He has been arrested and further action is initiated," the Byataryanapura traffic police said.

AFTER SHUTTLE CRASH AT KIA, FAMILY CANCELS HYD VACAY

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

THE 17 people on board the airport shuttle between Terminal 2 and Terminal 1 of KIA were fortunate to have got away without serious injuries, on Sunday morning. An IT couple and their 2-year-old daughter suffered injuries, and claimed that the "driver dozed off".

Choosing to remain anonymous, the man filed an FIR against the driver for rash and negligent driving at Devanahalli traffic police station.

The family, which resides in Varthur, was heading for a vacation to Hyderabad from T1. They decided to visit T2, and were on their way to T1 to board their Indigo flight when the accident took place, abruptly ending their vacation. The shuttle was operated by Air India SATS.

"When we entered the bus at T2, I noticed the driver having a nap. We sat in the middle of the bus. After 15 minutes, the driver started the bus and some time later, there was a loud noise and passengers started screaming," the man told The New Indian Express.

The airport shuttle after it crashed into a pillar at KIA on Sunday morning

"The driver had driven towards the left, on to the footpath and hit a pillar. A few people standing near the driver said they saw him dozing. I decided to file a complaint and a few others said they would do," he added.

His daughter got a big bump on her head, his wife injured her knee, back and chin, and he received shoulder and neck injuries. They were taken to Aster CMI at Sahakarnagar where his daughter underwent a CT scan.

Two others underwent minor surgeries, a hospital source said.

Inquiry begins

A joint inquiry on the reasons for the accident was taken up by AI SATS, which has a contract to operate the shuttle service, and airport operator Bangalore International Airport Limited.

"It appears he dozed off at the wheel. Let us wait for the inquiry to be completed," said an airport source.

MLC POLLS

Ticket to Council: Cong picks Shettar, 2 others

Former CM, Boseraju, Tippannappa likely to file papers today

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI @ Bengaluru

IN an apparent move to honour its commitment, Congress has nominated former chief minister Jagadish Shettar as one of its candidates for the June 30 elections to the Legislative Council from the Assembly.

The other Congress candidates are Minor Irrigation Minister NS Boseraju, who is not a member of the Assembly or the Council, and Tippannappa Kamaknoor. All three are likely to be elected unopposed. They are likely to file their nomination papers on Tuesday.

If elected, Shettar's term as MLC will be till June14, 2028. His nomination is for the post vacated by former DCM Laxman Savadi, who quit BJP after he was denied ticket to contest the May10 Assembly elections. Savadi joined Congress and got elected to the Assembly from Athani.

Shettar, who also quit BJP for the same reason, joined Congress. But he lost to Mahesh Tenginakai of BJP by a margin of 38,289 votes from Hubballi-Dharwad (Central) constituency. "I feel happy that the Congress party is treating me respectfully and is using my experience to strengthen the party ahead of the 2024 Lok Sabha elections," he told TNIE.

He did not rule out contesting the LS elections if Congress fields him, especially from Dharwad.

Shettar's nomination was expected as he hails from the Veerashaiva-Lingayat community and his stature as a leader of the community may help Congress in the LS elections.

Boseraju's nomination is inevitable as he has to be a member of the House being a minister.

If elected, Tippannappa's term as MLC will end on June 30, 2026. This post fell vacant due to the resignation of former minister R Shankar. Tippannappa, who hails from Kalaburagi, is from the Koli community.

Baburao Chinchansur, who also hails from the Koli community, returned to Congress from BJP ahead of the May 10 Assembly elections. He had also resigned as MLC. But Chinchansur lost from Gurmitkal constituency in the Assembly elections. His renomination as MLC was expected. But the Congress leadership chose Tippannappa over Chinchansur and is likely to groom the former as Koli community's future leader.

Party finalises names of three nominated members

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

CONGRESS has finalised the names of the three leaders to be nominated as MLCs. They are educationists Mansoor Ali Khan and MR Seetharam and former IRS officer Sudama Das, who also served as a co-chairman of a KPCC committee. Das is a Scheduled Caste (left).

These names were sent to the party central leadership in a sealed cover and have arrived back with the approvals. The list is expected to be handed over to Governor Thawaarchand Gehlot for approval.

As the three will be directly nominated, they will not face any election. They will replace three nominated members -- former mayor PR Ramesh, filmmaker Mohan Kondajji and social activist CM Lingappa, who completed their six-year terms in May-June.

There are 11 nominated members in the Council and five are from the BJP — CP Yogeshwara, Bharati Shetty, Shantaram Siddi, Adagur Vishwanath and Talwar Sabanna. The lone JDS nominee KA Thippeswamy. Two other nominated MLCs from Congress are Prakash Rathore and UB Venkatesh.

With these nominations and the election of three Congress members -- Jagadish Shettar, Bose Raju and Kamaknoor Thippanappa -- a foregone conclusion, the Congress numbers in the Council will go up to 29 as against the present 23. BJP will, however, remain the largest party with 34 seats.

"Congress will have to work out a strategy to gain control of the House or wait till the next election to be in control of the Council with its sheer numbers. Only if Congress becomes the single -largest party in the Council, will will get the chairman's post.

Seetharam is a former minister and former MLA from Malleswaram. He is part of the MS Ramaiah group of institutions and will be nominated as educationist.

Mansoor Ali Khan is a trustee of DPS which runs around ten schools in Bengaluru and Mysuru. He is also a trustee with an English newspaper. He will be nominated as educationist and journalist. Sudhama Das, a former bureaucrat, will be nominated as social worker.

Communal deaths: CM pays ₹25L each to victims' kin

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE state government paid a compensation of Rs 25 lakh each to the families of victims who lost their lives in communal riots in the last four years. Distributing the cheques, Chief Minister Siddaramaiah slammed the previous BJP government for ignoring minority family members who were victims of communal riots. He also assured government jobs to the relatives of victims.

The families of six victims, who were killed since 2018, had not been given compensation by the government.

The victims were Deepak Rao (2018), Massood (2022), Mohammed Fazil (2022), Abdul Jalil (2022), all from Dakshina Kannada, Shamir (2022) from Gadag and Idris Pasha (2023) from Mandya. Except Deepak Rao, all the other five died during the BJP rule, Siddaramiah said. The BJP government discriminated against these families while announcing compensation to the families of Praveen Nettaru in Dakshina Kannada and Harsha, a Bajrang Dal activist from Shivamogga, he said.

Chief Minister Siddaramaiah distributes compensation of Rs 25 lakh to the family of one of the victims of communal killings, in Bengaluru on Monday | EXPRESS

"The state government belongs to everyone. It is not fair to favour one caste or one religion. This is anti-constitutional. When I was the leader of opposition, I had raised my voice in the Assembly against BJP's politics of hatred and discrimination. The BJP government discriminated even while distributing the compensation and comforting families that had faced tragedies. The government will get these cases investigated," he said.

He issued a stern warning to those indulging in moral policing and taking law into their hands. "I have given clear instructions to the police department to take strict action against such people," he said. The state government is working towards ensuring no communal incidents in the state and no one should die in communal riots, he added.

Ministers Cheluvarayaswamy, Zameer Ahmed Khan, political secretary to CM Nasir Ahmed, Govindaraju and other leaders were present on this occasion.

People throng the BengaluruOne centre to register for the Gruha Jyothi scheme, in JP Nagar, Bengaluru, on Monday | EXPRESS

No deadline for Gruha Jyoti registration

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

DUE to server issues and to meet the demand, the Bangalore Electricity Supply Company Limited (BESCOM) has withdrawn the deadline to register for the Gruha Jyoti scheme, under which eligible consumers will be given 200 units of power per month free.

Meanwhile, over 1.60 lakh consumers registered for the scheme on the Seva Sindhu portal since the registration commenced on Sunday. An official release from the energy and e-governance departments stated that 1,61,958 consumers registered in the two days, while 1,06,958 applied on Monday alone.

Officials said citizens registered both online on Seva Sindhu portal and offline at Karnataka One, Grama One and Bengaluru One centres across the state on Monday.

On complaints by citizens that electricity bills for June are showing negative amount, BESCOM said this is because the bill is yet to be updated in its system. The issue will be resolved in two days, it added. In cases where the amount is not reflecting, consumers have been asked to enter the amount recorded in the physical copy of the bills and make their payments online.

Consumers can approach their nearest sub-division office or call the helpline 1912 if there are any discrepancies in their physical bills, the release said.

BESCOM clarified that consumers are billed according to their consumption as per the revised tariff and there is no excess billing. The billing system will be smooth without any glitches from July onwards, it said.

BUSY SCHEDULE

CM set to fly to Delhi tomorrow

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Siddaramaiah is scheduled to visit New Delhi on Wednesday and pay a "courtesy call" to national leaders, including Home Minister Amit Shah.

Siddaramaiah was to meet Prime Minister Narendra Modi, but the latter will be in the USA between June 21 and June 24.

The CM is also likely to call on Union Minister of Road Transport and Highways Nitin Gadkari and seek his cooperation for projects in Karnataka. He will meet President Droupadi Murmu at the Rashtrapati Bhavan.

However, it is not yet confirmed if he will call on Union Minister of Consumer Affairs Piyush Goel to discuss issues related to the state, particularly procurement of rice for the Anna Bhagya scheme.

Siddaramaiah's main agenda for the trip is to attend the meeting of Congress high command leaders, including Rahul Gandhi. AICC president Mallikarjun Kharge had called a meeting of all Karnataka ministers on Wednesday.

People are converting for biryani in Chitradurga: Union min

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chitradurga

UNION Minister of State for Social Justice and Empowerment A Narayanaswamy has created a flutter in political circles by alleging that religious conversion of the oppressed sections is being done by giving them biryani.

He told the media that the Karnataka government is repealing The Protection of Right to Freedom of Religion Bill, 2021, popularly known as 'Anti-Conversion Bill', and that Andhra Pradesh has registered 90 per cent religious conversions, Telangana 30 per cent, and the Madiga community is specially targeted.

He also said that conversions are taking place in Chitradurga for just a biryani, and it is the poor who are constantly targeted. Perpetrators use poverty to further their cause and convert people. If this continues, it will be difficult for them to survive, Narayanaswamy added.

"Conversion is being done by targeting the oppressed, who will not get any identity. Because of this problem, the then BJP-led state government enacted the Anti-Conversion Bill, but the Congress government withdrew it. Let them do whatever they want," he said angrily.

On the Union government planning to bring in Uniform Civil Code, the minister said it was welcomed by Muslims too. "It was Ambedkar's desire that the Constitution should be supreme and be respected, and the state government withdrawing the Anti-Conversion Bill is against the wishes of Dr Ambedkar," he added.

Narayanaswamy joined the bandwagon of BJP leaders pressuring the Congress government to implement the guarantees it made during elections.

"The Congress, which came to power on guarantees of free rice, power, Gruha Lakshmi and others, shouldn't give evasive replies that the Centre has not given rice. The Centre distributes rice on the basis of production and stock available, but I don't know on what basis the state government is making allegations on distribution of rice, he added.

Ever since the state government introduced Shakti Yojana, there have been a rise in quarrels and accidents, and bus drivers and conductors say there is no infrastructure at pilgrim centres to provide them shelter. But the government is unconcerned about the status of the bus and condition of SRTCs operating in Karnataka, he alleged.

The scheme was introduced without knowing the repercussions, he said, and questioned why people of the country have remained poor even after 'Gareebi Hatao' was introduced by the Congress.

State edu policy on course in schools

RAMAKRISHNA BADSESHI @Kalaburagi

THE Congress government is committed to introducing a State Education Policy (SEP) in place of the National Education Policy (NEP) as promised in the party's election manifesto, said Higher Education Minister MC Sudhakar here on Monday.

"The government has already started introducing SEP at the primary and secondary school level. As most higher education institutes have started the curricula as per NEP, the government will seek the opinion of experts on the methodology of introducing SEP in higher education to protect the interests of students," he said.

Sudhakar said he has held meetings with the vice-chancellors of all the 32 government universities in the state and discussed the problems being faced by them.

"I have proposed a meeting, chaired by the chief minister, with the V-Cs to find a lasting solution to issues faced by the universities," he said.

Seer rescues cat from well, leaves netizens in thrall

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Udupi

SRI Vishwaprasanna Theertha Swamiji has been receiving accolades from netizens and animal lovers after a video of him entering a 40-foot-deep well to rescue a cat went viral on social media.

The cat had fallen into the well in Mucchlukodu Subrahmanya Temple on the outskirts of Udupi on Sunday.

When the seer, one of the trustees of the Sri Ram Janmabhoomi Trust, went to the temple, he was told about the incident.

As many attempts to rescue the animal failed, the seer himself entered the well using a rope and placed the cat in a bucket tied to the rope. But when people started pulling the bucket up, the scared feline jumped back into the water. The seer then took the cat in his hand and climbed up each ring of the well.

A BA graduate from Poorna Prajna College, Udupi, the 59-year-old seer is a yoga exponent and a good swimmer too. He had received 'sanyasa deeksha' (sainthood) in 1988, when he was 24 years old. The seer has a special love for cows. At a goshala established by him in Neelavara, around 200 cows rescued from cattle traffickers are taken care of.

On June 14, the seer had surprised his disciples by climbing a jackfruit tree near the goshala in Neelavara to pluck the fruits. He plucked more than 10 jackfruits at one go using a pole attached with a sickle. After distributing the jackfruits to his disciples and staff at the goshala, he told them to feed it to the cows.

Photos of the seer harvesting jackfruits also went viral on social media. Some years ago, he had demonstrated in the goshala how to rescue snakes and release them safely into the forest.

ED contests shifting of Balaji to pvt hosp

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court has agreed to hear on Wednesday a plea filed by the Enforcement Directorate against an order of the Madras High Court allowing the shifting of arrested Tamil Nadu minister V Senthil Balaji. The HC had allowed the minister, who was under treatment at Omandurar government hospital, to be shifted to Kauvery Hospital for heart surgery.

Solicitor General Tushar Mehta mentioned the matter before a vacation bench of Justice Surya Kant and Justice M M Sundresh seeking urgent hearing.

The agency has also challenged the order of the Chennai sessions court that gave ED eight-day custody of the minister with certain conditions.

The high court had passed the order based on a habeas corpus petition filed by the minister's wife, Mekala. Senthil Balaji, accused in money laundering case related to a cash-for-jobs scam was arrested by the ED last Wednesday after the agency questioned him for nearly 18 hours over the alleged scam during his tenure as transport minister in AIADMK government between 2011 and 2016.

Mehta told the SC bench that the habeas corpus plea was not maintainable, and the HC order transferring Balaji to a private hospital was unjustified as SC's ruling in CBI v Anupam J Kulkarni barred investigating agency from getting custody of an accused beyond a period of 15 days from the arrest date.

71% RAIN DEFICIT: 'BIPARJOY' BRINGS NO JOY TO KARNATAKA

MOHAMMED YACOOB @ Bengaluru

CYCLONE 'Biparjoy' that hit the Gujarat coast last week has affected the progress of southwest monsoon in Karnataka. According to the India Meteorological Department (IMD), Karnataka has so far received 34.3mm of rainfall from June 1 as against the normal rainfall of 119.6mm — a 71% deficit.

According to weathermen, Biparjoy has sucked out moisture from southern India causing this shortage. While coastal Karnataka has received 13cm rainfall as against the normal 49cm (a deficit of 72%), North Interior Karnataka got just 2cm rainfall (normal 7cm), a deficit of 68%. Even South Interior Karnataka stares at a deficit of 73% receiving just 3cm (normal 9cm). Things are not rosy even in Bengaluru, with the city receiving 3cm rainfall (normal 6cm), a deficit of 50%.

IMD-Bengaluru Director A Prasad said Biparjoy affected the monsoon wind circulation pattern. "As it has made landfall and crossed Gujarat, we expect the monsoon currents to revive. Coastal Karnataka has been experiencing widespread rainfall since Sunday. Westerly winds are advancing and in the next three days, the conditions will become favourable for the further advancement of the monsoon," he said.

Going by the extended weather forecast for one month, the department is expecting above normal rainfall in Karnataka starting June 21 for two weeks. Conditions are favourable for the further advancement of monsoon and more parts of Karnataka will receive rains in the next three days," Prasad added.

Running away from jumbo, woman dies in Kanakapura

BOSKY KHANNA @ Bengaluru

A 60-year-old woman died and her sister suffered injuries while running away from an elephant on Monday morning in Achallu reserve forest in Kanakapura, around 20km from Cauvery Wildlife Sanctuary (CWS).

The victim Jayamma and Venkatalakshmamma (50), her sister, were agricultural labourers and heading to work, when they heard an elephant trumpeting. While running to take cover, Jayamma died.

Forest department officials said this is the third case of attack in 20 days. So far, around a hundred cases of crop raiding have been reported in Ramanagara and around CWS. "There are around 8-10 male elephants outside the forest patches, who raid crops at night. Since the areas outside are well irrigated, the tanks are full with abundant cash crops, elephants are drawn towards them," said forest department officials.

Forest and Environment Minister Eshwar Khandre held a meeting with senior officials and directed them to give compensation, and take part in the operations.

A forest official told TNIE: "This is a repeat of incidents in Hassan and Sakleshpur, where raids had happened. Gradually, the elephants made the areas outside forest patches their abode. In this case too, the elephants are becoming bold and confident. Such incidents have been on the rise since 2018-19. This is also the second case of sighting of all-male groups. A similar incident was reported near Tumakuru. This is a warning sign calling for attention, especially when the government is keen on implementing the Mekedatu project in CWS."

IN THROES OF HEAT WAVE, STATES MUST STEADY RESPONSE SYSTEMS

With about a third of the country in its grip, a staggering heat wave has once again exposed the poor resilience of Indian states to a disastrous summer. Almost 100 deaths are being investigated in Uttar Pradesh and Bihar, where the vulnerable populace has found itself at the mercy of nature. A top government doctor in UP's Ballia found himself transferred for linking the casualties to a heat wave. Sunstroke deaths are difficult to confirm, which is why accurate reporting always remains a daunting task.

But the past is replete with examples of the phenomenon's brutal nature. In 2019, Bihar alone recorded over 180 deaths. This year, the warning signs were palpable early. The India Meteorological Department (IMD) predicted a severe heat wave, and the forecast held true. Eastern UP, Bihar, Odisha, Jharkhand, Chhattisgarh, West Bengal, parts of Madhya Pradesh, Andhra Pradesh and Telangana bore the brunt as the mercury smashed records in June. Bihar reported some of the hottest days in the last 10 years, and the heat wave footprint doubled in Odisha. The unforgiving conditions have lingered for far more days than expected, turning this summer deadly. In Odisha, Jharkhand, Telangana and AP, the killer weather had an uninterrupted run for nine to 12 days. A tardy monsoon, held back by cyclonic storm Biparjoy, has not helped. Poor rainfall in June has left vast swathes of the country in despair and exacerbated the people's suffering. The latest data shows 50% of districts in India reported highly deficient rainfall, while 8% have had no rainfall this month.

The IMD forecasts that the unbearable conditions will abate as the monsoon advances. But the lessons must not be forgotten. As climate change pushes the temperature upwards across the Indian subcontinent, more such events will follow in the years to come. Heat wave-related mortalities, though, can be prevented with a robust early warning and mitigation mechanism. France, which struggled with a killer heat wave in 2003, installed heat warning systems that helped reduce deaths when a similar wave revisited three years later. In 1998, Odisha recorded a whopping 2000-odd sunstroke deaths, but the state, a champion of disaster management, has successfully dealt with the crisis ever since. Mass awareness is key to making it happen. States must heed the perils of global warming and firm up response systems at the grassroots level.

CHIRAG-SATWIK INDIAN BADMINTON'S FIRST FAMILY

India's Satwiksairaj Rankireddy and Chirag Shetty are in the winners' circle. They have elevated themselves from being just a pair of good players to a new level that's seen them winning more titles and climbing the ranking table with great panache. After the 2021 Tokyo Olympics, and since the Birmingham Commonwealth Games gold, they are raiding the proverbial Eldorado of titles more regularly.

Their talent was never in question. The two showed immense potential ever since they joined hands in 2016. However, they were competing in a largely overlooked category in India because of average performances in the past. That meant they didn't have a reference point and always had to be extra special to get noticed. One tournament after another, they did just that. Their self-belief kept growing, and so did the number of special wins.

Under the circumstances, the Indonesian Open success (a BWF World Tour Super 1000-level event) on Sunday, where they beat the world champions—Malaysian pair Aaron Chia and Soh Wooi Yik—is equivalent to a Grand Slam in tennis. It was a title long overdue, given their rising stature. Something that was cut, marinated and pickled to perfection. The Indians have now won as many as six titles on Tour.

Ever since the pandemic, the two have been digging deep behind the scenes, and their association with Mathias Boe was the real game-changer. Boe, a former Olympic medallist from Denmark, was initially offered short-term contracts. After much-prolonged deliberation and at the players' request, the Sports Authority of India and chief national coach P Gopichand agreed to sign on the dotted lines in 2022. Under Boe's guidance, the doubles duo have evolved and become more rounded players. While the search for a foreign coach is still on in the singles category, they are now a well-settled unit and can focus purely on the sport and devise well-thought-out plans (something that is key given shuttlers play week in, week out). What has also helped them grow is their hunger to keep learning. After making history, it is easy to get carried away. But they are always mindful of their bigger dream—an Olympic medal. Soon after the win on Sunday, Satwik was already thinking about his next match. That hunger and drive must remain intact, with many more crucial events lined up including the Asian Games and the Olympics next year.

QUICK TAKE

CLEAR AND PRESENT WARMING

In the first few days of June, mean global temperatures were 1.5 degrees Celsius higher than the pre-industrial average, according to the European Centre for Medium-Range Weather Forecast. It is the first breach noticed in summer and resulted from a short-term forecast. The epochal breach we await is calculated over 20–30 years and is not far away. Still, we must know how often new breaches will occur in the coming year as El Nino completes its current cycle. The takeaway for the Dubai COP28 this November is that a transformational road map to halve emissions must replace incremental steps.

Talking green for the sake of talking green is the new habit, often spurred on by the top management in organisations

A MESSAGE TO BRANDS: HUSH THAT GREEN TALK

HARISH BIJOOR

Brand Guru and Founder, Harish Bijoor Consults Inc

SOUMYADIP SINHA

The colour green. A colour many of us love. Green is a representation of everything that is natural, fresh and one that belongs to the flora that makes the world what it is today. Sadly, green is also a colour that is progressively inching towards representing malicious intent in the world of business and marketing.

The word that defines this negative use of such a vibrant colour by the world of business is greenwashing. A term that represents the misuse of the word green and all that it stands for. The green monster is here. In our midst already.

Let me introduce you to this creature of our making. In the beginning, the use of green was benign. It meant everything positive. Until international bodies that represent the cause of green kept using it, all was well.

It was still all good when governments of countries kept using it. And then the tide turned: Corporate bodies and brands jumped onto the bandwagon, and greenwashing as we know it today, has become a menace of no small proportion.

Greenwashing then is the use of the colour and the benign strokes it represents to further brand image, corporate sales, brand interest, brand franchise and a lot more. The green monster then has three facets to it: the good, the bad and the ugly.

While the good is all about the use of the language of the organic, the mindful, the sustainable and the good-for-the-planet, bad greenwashing is all about being vague, talking without proof and at times going off on a tangent into the realm of prose and poetry even. And the ugly avatar of this green monster is everything that is a skin-deep green.

Talking green for the sake of talking green is the new habit, oftentimes spurred on by the top management in organisations. The CSR monies that lie there in the corporate kitty help spur this monster on. Interestingly, brands today use the green language strategically to further their brand offerings, and in turn the revenues that accrue.

Corporate India has just about discovered the joy of greenwashing, and I think it's time to look at everything one must avoid in this green space, which is getting cluttered with every brand and his uncle wanting a piece of the green pie. Here is my take on the do's and don'ts. Needless to say, there are more don'ts than do's.

When I look at this space of greenwashing, it is interesting to see that the 'reddest' of categories seem to be adopting the greenest of words and phrases. Cement companies, the air-conditioning industry, bottled water brands whose products are made from PET, fast fashion and industries that pollute more and purify less are the first to embrace the language of green advertising, green marketing and green PR.

Very clearly, brands in these categories are very sensitive to the fact that they do a fair bit of harm, and seem to want a greenwashed avatar as soon as possible. These categories, their brands, the advertising agencies and creative geniuses that work for them are quick to do the needful. The solutions brought to the table seem to be just as rustic and quick.

Grab the category and its negatives, pick those initiatives that make the company look a lot less 'redder', put all of it into the advertising washing machine, set it to wash-and-dry and pour in the green detergent to make it all happen. Viola. A new campaign is ready. The category looks greener than ever before. The company looks green. The brands go green. Nearly everything looks green. At times even without being green enough even.

Greenwashing today has two variants. Firstly, there is the category of sensorial greenwashing. Here, brands use items you can see, touch, smell, hear and taste to showcase green effort. And then there is the emotional greenwashing technique. Out here, brands pick the realm of imagination. Here, the sky's the limit. Creative genius comes into play.

The terrible aspects of greenwashing emerge when you see folks in fast fashion use it to their advantage. There are branded players in the space of fashion wear who promote the green movement. They pitch products that are very well thought-out at the back-end in terms of procurement of materials and manufacturing practices. But they fail at the front-end. Some collect used garments. And yet most others encourage buying and adding more garments to the wardrobe.

Ultimately, junk from this space goes into landfills that are expanding by the minute, if not by the second. It is here that I question the clean intent of these players involved in active and buoyant greenwashing. In many ways, the ultimate and real green mantra in the space of fashion wear must be the "Do Not Buy More" theme. The "Buy Responsibly" theme even.

Sadly, in many such instances, green is the bait to bring in new customers. Imagine an inverted funnel. The narrow, long tip of the funnel is facing upwards. This is the bait/green end of the funnel. Brands advertise the green message and consumers trickle in.

Once in, the broad end of the inverted funnel is where the joy lies for the brand. Out here, you have lured the consumer in from the narrow tip of the green message, only to offload all of them into the non-green end of the funnel, where the mass offerings lie. Red offerings, if I may call them that.

At the end of it all, what must a brand do? There is so much noise in the space of green. Must you participate or not? And if so, how far must you go?

My view is a purist one. A simple one. I do believe every brand and every company must have a green program in place. It must pursue this route with passion. This "route to the future" must not be a "route to the market".

It must be an internal program that does all the good things in the realm of green, without talking about it to the outside world of consumers. You must be green. You must do green. But don't tout it to your customers. And for heaven's sake, don't advertise it the way you do. It's time to hush your green work altogether. There is respect in 'greenhushing'. For the sake of decency, hush it up folks.

NEHRU MEMORIAL AND THE WAR OF HISTORIES

C P SURENDRAN

Poet, novelist, and screenplay writer. His latest novel is One Love and the Many Lives of Osip B

Last week, the name of the Nehru Memorial Museum and Library was changed to Prime Ministers' Museum and Library Society. For close to 60 years, the institution was directly associated with Jawaharlal Nehru. Anything that transpired is memory and, therefore, fiction. That is why history can be read as a novel without an end.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi and his team believe history as not what happened but what ought to have happened. Since the past can't be materially changed, they have settled for the next best option, a new telling. In the telling of things, names are crucial. You own a thing by naming it, including children, dogs, railway stations, roads, cities and monuments.

Until last week, the Nehru Memorial Museum and Library, a landmark of New Delhi, existed. The building exists, but the name on the wall says Pradhanmantri Sangrahalaya.

What did it take to alter a bit of history and give it new ownership? A name and some paint. That it was almost a fated turn of events is clear from the fact that the Parliament building inaugurated by Nehru is now a curio, a museum artefact. A certain history itself is becoming history.

BJP president J P Nadda tweeted: "Classic example of political indigestion—the inability to accept a simple fact that there are leaders beyond one dynasty who have served and built our nation. PM Sangrahalaya is an effort beyond politics, and Congress lacks the vision to realise this." The BJP might have a point had the overnight metamorphosis of the institution been a singular incident. It is not.

Deep in its bones, the BJP believes there are three colonial periods in India: The Mughal period, the British period, and the Nehru period. Roughly a thousand years of foreign rule, then.

This is a potent perspective. From this perspective, there is to be sourced endless outrage, universal victimhood, and righteousness of the cause. Perhaps, in destruction—in the demolition of signs, monuments, and relics—we often perceive how a creation might be conjured; the historic task of resurrecting great ancient India from the ruins. Apocalypse as the Beginning.

Last year, Delhi BJP leader Adesh Gupta asked the AAP-led Delhi government to rename 40 villages with "Mughal-era" names after freedom fighters, artists and martyrs, including IB staffer Ankit Sharma and constable Ratan Lal, killed in the 2020 Northeast Delhi riots. He said there were 40 villages that had names "associated with the Mughals" and "symbolise slave mentality".

There are scores of other town square instances of attempts at forging a new memory even as we remember. And there are perhaps good reasons for this ongoing lobotomy.

> What did it take to alter a bit of history and give it new ownership? A name and some paint. That it was almost a fated turn of events is clear from the fact that the Parliament building inaugurated by Nehru is now a curio

For the BJP, their wrecker-ball solution to a perceived history is not a make-believe. It is their political scripture and religious faith. Where the urban, secular, liberal India goes wrong—with generally sad electoral results—is in their superiority of attitude, an attitude that isn't hard-earned but inherited.

The signs of the BJP's righteous wrath are everywhere. To recoup the past and salvage pride from ancient wrongs, perceived or real, they must inhabit the past even as they live in the present to build a new future: a modern, nuclear New York of temples, forts and eight-lane highways. But it can be done only if the party points a constant finger at the demon spirits from as far back as 1000 years ago, still drifting through time mists, riding their horses down the erstwhile Raj Path, marauding.

So, Aurangzeb has not died. He cannot. If he is dead, he cannot be killed again and again as and when the need arises. Aurangabad naturally must be renamed Chhatrapati Sambhaji Nagar. Or Aurangzeb Road must be renamed Abdul Kalam Road when in the interests of perceived truth, a new road could have been built in memory of the former president. A tweet—a Brahmastra of a kind—praising a long-dead Mughal king or British general could set off a riot killing and maiming hundreds, watched by children who do not know why suddenly they are orphans.

Overnight, school textbooks become lighter for dropped chapters on India's past. The scriptures are scoured to discern the secrets of particle physics. A time India ruled the world is sought to be discovered—naturally in the myths. And all of it is happening in the present for a genuinely aspired, beautiful future. All of it is the result of an earnest yearning for glory. The glory we once had. It is nostalgia—for a golden future in the past.

There is a pain in the BJP's vision and punishment, and glory. This is what goads them on. The Nehru-shaped Opposition signals virtues; for example, decency. In realpolitik, that is just drawing room decorum. It works well—with cocktail revolutionaries of all persuasions and genders. Tweets. Black masks. The odd, heroic yatras. But Congress' skin is not in the game.

If the old Parliament building was canned, no one attempted immolation in search of a democracy-saving headline. When the Central Vista renovation happened, no one fasted to death, and all the MPs lived next door.

When the Nehru Memorial was rechristened, surely at least one Congressman in the management committee would have known the agenda of the meeting in advance. No one called a press conference. The secular, liberal Opposition's greatest problem is secularism and liberalism. What they need is street politics. They can't do it because they are gentlemen. And gentlemen dress well and behave. They don't bloody their noses.

'Will ensure justice is done to genuine OBCs'

National Commission for Backward Classes chief Hansraj Gangaram Ahir says will not accept inclusion of castes in lists without review

NATIONAL Commission for Backward Classes (NCBC) chairman Hansraj Gangaram Ahir says serious discrepancies have been found in the OBC (Other Backward Classes) list of West Bengal. He tells Rajesh Kumar Thakur that state government officials have been asked to rectify the discrepancies, failing if which the commission will take action. Excerpts:

What discrepancies have actually been identified in the OBC list of West Bengal and other states by the NCBC?
During review meetings conducted by the West Bengal government, a significant issue regarding the inclusion of 80% Muslims in the OBC category has come to light. Upon examination, it was revealed that genuine OBC communities are denied their rights by the government. The state government has divided the OBC list into two groups, 'A' and 'B'. In the 'A' group (Most Backward Castes), the government has included 73 Muslim OBCs and eight Hindu OBC castes. In the 'B' group (Backward Class) of OBCs, 98 castes have been added, including 43 Muslim OBCs and 55 Hindu OBC castes. These actions have led to many discrepancies in the state list of OBCs in the state, resulting in a total of 179 OBCs, including 116 Muslim OBCs. The NCBC has identified these discrepancies.

Are Muslims who migrated to West Bengal from neighbouring countries and upper caste Hindus who converted to Islam included in the state OBC list?
As NCBC chairman, I can confirm that I have been informed by West Bengal officials that the number of OBCs have increased due to the inclusion of Hindus who converted to Islam. When I inquired about the data regarding Hindus who converted and were later included in the state list of OBCs, the state government stated that no such data is maintained. However, it is puzzling how a Hindu who converted to Islam could be included in the OBCs without meeting the necessary criteria. It appears that some undeserving castes have been included in the state lists of OBCs. We will not allow injustice to be perpetrated against genuine OBCs in West Bengal or elsewhere.

Verbatim

Have you noticed discrepancies in BJP-ruled states as well?
The commission does not take into account a party, government or a state. We fulfill our constitutional responsibilities as a commission. However, it has been found, both on paper and in reality, that the rights of genuine Hindu OBCs have been snatched away by the West Bengal government. In other states, including Telangana, minor anomalies have been identified, and officials were told to rectify them. There is a possibility of including Rohingya Muslims in the state list of OBCs, which merits further investigation. Among the 179 castes categorised and included in the state list of OBCs in West Bengal, 116 belong to the Muslim community. While some anomalies have been observed in states like Bihar, Telangana and Rajasthan, particularly in the 'creamy layer' benefits and others, the discrepancies identified in West Bengal are more glaring. The commission is gradually reviewing the OBC lists of other states.

What motives do you see behind the alleged discrepancies in West Bengal?
As a holder of a constitutional post, I cannot make any political comment. However, it is evident that there are some motives behind such actions in West Bengal. What is clear is that injustice has been done to genuine OBCs in the state.

What will be the next course of action by the NCBC if discrepancies in the lists of OBCs in West Bengal and other states are not addressed?
If West Bengal and others fail to ensure proper compliance with the commission's instructions, we will take action through appropriate channels to remove fraudulently included castes from the state lists of OBCs. The commission will take strict action if West Bengal government neglects to act upon the commission's instructions. We will not compromise on the rights of genuine OBCs. In 2011, the West Bengal government submitted a list of only 38 OBCs, which included two Hindu castes, to the central OBC commission. This indicates an imbalanced approach. The commission is fully committed to safeguarding the rights of genuine OBCs. We will not accept the inclusion of castes in the OBC lists without a thorough review.

What challenges is the NCBC currently facing?
The main challenge is the removal of fraudulently included castes from the state lists of Other Backward Classes and ensuring that genuine castes receive benefits. In West Bengal, there are many castes with roots in Bangladesh. It cannot be denied that the West Bengal OBC list has been prepared dishonestly.

Don't Muslims meet the OBC criteria list?
I am not saying that Muslims do not meet the criteria to be included in the OBCs. The issue is not about Muslims, but rather about how the West Bengal government prepared the OBC lists. Genuine Muslims who meet the criteria should be included in the OBC category.

Do you think there is a need to include more and more castes in the OBCs in the country?
This is currently being assessed, and necessary steps will be taken only after the castes proposed by state governments in their state lists of OBCs are found to meet the established criteria.

Modi to meet Biden 4 times, address US Congress again

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

AS Prime Minister Narendra Modi embarks on his State visit to the US on Tuesday, all eyes are on the meetings that have been lined up right from the Yoga Day celebrations at the UN headquarters to PM's various meetings with US President Joe Biden and his Congressional address.

"There could be anywhere between three to four meetings between PM Modi and President Biden. The first meeting will take place on June 21 evening. The two leaders will have a bilateral meeting on June 22. This will begin with a ceremonial welcome, followed by the PM's address to the Congress (a second time for him). In the evening, Biden will host a dinner for him. On June 23, Modi is likely to meet Biden again during the course of the day," said sources.

Modi's visit is set to take forward the roadmap for defence industrial cooperation, which envisages greater links between defence industries and research organisations of the two sides
Vinay Mohan Kwatra, Foreign Secretary

This is viewed by many as a historic visit that will see a lot of agreements being signed between the two nations, related to defence, critical technology, education, and skilling and migration, among others.

Modi has recently written to the members of the G20 nations seeking their approval for including the African Union in the group, by making them members during the upcoming G20 Summit in India. India has emphasised that the Voice of the Global South and Africa is an integral part of the Global South. So, there is every possibility that Modi will take up the issue with Biden.

"Modi's visit to the US is set to take forward the roadmap for defence industrial cooperation, which envisages greater links between defence industries and research organisations of the two sides," said foreign secretary Vinay Mohan Kwatra on Monday.

Reports suggest that the two countries could sign deals that would include manufacturing of General Electric's Aviation F414 engine and acquiring 31 MQ9 weaponised drones. There is likely to be collaboration in development and manufacturing of semiconductors.

The roadmap for US-India defence industrial cooperation was unveiled at a meeting between Defence Minister Rajnath Singh and his US counterpart earlier this month.

Top BJP leaders go into huddle amid buzz on party rejig, Cabinet reshuffle

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

AMID speculation on organisational changes within the BJP against the backdrop of Karnataka assembly results and a small recast of the Union cabinet after Prime Minister Modi returns from his US trip, top party leaders, including Amit Shah, JP Nadda and BL Santosh, reportedly had wide-ranging discussions on Monday.

Though no party official would share what was discussed, party sources hinted that the meeting would have deliberated up on the feedback of the ongoing special outreach programme, with a focus on political agendas for assembly polls in MP and Rajasthan.

"We guess that our party's top brains who have attended the Monday meeting along with a senior representative of the RSS, could have discussed as to how to wrest power from the Congress in Rajasthan and retain power in MP, besides other issues pertaining to both Lok Sabha and assembly polls due in five states," said a senior BJP leader.

Another party functionary said the speculation about a small rejig in Union Cabinet after the PM returns from the US cannot be ruled out as there is a buzz that some senior Union ministers can be assigned with the task of supervising the elections in states.

Sources also indicated that the leaders might have discussed the appointment of four to five new general secretaries in the party with various electoral responsibilities.

"A discussion on the selection of leader of Opposition in Karnataka, chiefs of party in some states including Telangana, Rajasthan, Jharkhand, UP and Himachal Pradesh, could have been held in the meeting along with outreaches being carried out by various wings of the party," said a party source. A senior party leader said the situation of Manipur also figured in the meeting, held a day after the RSS made a public appeal for peace in the violence-hit state.

Sources said the BJP leaders also discussed the preparations for the PM's rallies in MP and other states, the Yoga Day event, the formation of allies with like-minded parties in the south Indian states and the accommodation of old allies ahead of Lok Sabha elections.

Ravi Sinha to take over as RAW chief as Samant Goel's extended tenure ends

AMIT MUKHERJEE @ New Delhi

SENIOR IPS officer Ravi Sinha has been appointed the new chief of the Research and Analysis Wing (RAW) — India's external intelligence agency — by the Appointments Committee of the Cabinet.

Goel was appointed RAW chief in June 2019 and received two one-year extensions in 2021 and 2022. He will be completing his tenure on June 30 this year, following which Sinha will take charge for two years.

Sinha is a 1988 IPS officer from the Chhattisgarh cadre and has had an extensive career spanning over two decades in RAW. In his present capacity at the Cabinet Secretariat, he oversees the operations wing of India's intelligence unit.

Sinha as the RAW chief for the next two years.

His appointment comes at a time when the government is looking to strengthen India's intelligence infrastructure and maintain a smooth transition amid a change of guard in the set-up. MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

AN INDIAN Army contingent is participating in the multinational peacekeeping joint exercise 'Ex Khaan Quest 2023' beginning in Mongolia on Monday. The exercise features participation from military contingents and observers from over 20 countries.

India has announced a gift of warship to Vietnam, which is another milestone in the rising strategic relationship in the Indo-Pacific region.

The Ministry of Defence said Mongolian President Ukhnaagiin Khurelsukh inaugurated the exercise in a ceremony held in that country. The exercise is co-sponsored by Mongolian Armed Forces and United States Army Pacific Command."

Army stocks up for winter in high altitude terrains

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

THE INDIAN Army's significant exercise of Advance Winter Stocking (AWS) is in full swing to beat the inaccessibility of the northern borders, which begins with the onset of winters when the temperatures plummet much below minus 20°C.

The stocking includes food items, fuel, oil and lubricants, spare parts, ammunition and equipment, which is meant to sustain the troops deployed in the areas that become inaccessible due to the closure of the roads.

Keeping the heightened deployment in Eastern Ladakh since May 2020 and the precautionary deployment all along the 3,488 km Line of Actual Control, the exercise holds much significance. The quantum of material mobilised has increased in direct proportion to the increased manpower and equipment involved, sources said.

India follows a pattern of deployment of troops closer to the border areas and frontline, which includes a large portion that is snow-clad and falls in the high-altitude category. The AWS is generally carried out through the roads till October before the passes are blocked due to snowfall. But, amid the tensions along the northern borders, "the silver lining is that our AWS capacity has improved as there is an overall improvement in the road, bridge and tunnel infrastructure," said defence analyst retired major general SB Asthana.

The improvement in road communications and opening the mountain passes early have provided twin advantages to our agencies: early start to stocking and more time for it.

Khalistani radical shot dead in Canada

DESIGNATED terrorist and Khalistani radical Hardeep Singh Nijjar was on Monday shot dead by two unknown assailants in the parking lot of the Guru Nanak Sikh Gurdwara in Punjabi-dominated Surrey in Canada's British Columbia. Canada's Integrated Homicide Investigation Team is currently investigating the killing.

The NIA had last year declared a ₹10 lakh cash reward on Nijjar as he was wanted in at least four NIA cases pertaining to Sikh radicalism, including a conspiracy to kill a Hindu priest at Phillaur in Punjab.

Nijjar was president of Guru Nanak Sikh Gurdwara in Surrey and chief of the Khalistan Tiger Force. He was also associated with the banned Sikhs for Justice run by G S Pannun. Pannun had appointed him as SFJ's representative in Canada for the 'Referendum-2020 campaign'.

Nijjar played a key role in organising the Khalistan referendum in Brampton, Canada. Earlier, the NIA had filed a chargesheet against Nijjar in a case of conspiracy to commit terrorist acts against India. The NIA had said Nijjar had been proactively involved in recruiting, training, financing and operationalising pro-Khalistan terrorist modules for spreading terror in India.

BJP list from Nandigram gets leaner

Party alleges violence by ruling TMC in Suvendu Adhikari's home turf

PRANAB MONDAL @ Kolkata

A BJP rally in Nandigram for panchayat poll nomination on Monday

THE main opposition, BJP, has reportedly failed to put up candidates in one-third of the seats from Nandigram, the assembly constituency in East Midnapore from where Opposition Leader Suvendu Adhikari won last Assembly election by defeating CM Mamata Banerjee.

The party has failed to field their candidates because of the ruling Trinamool's alleged highhandedness in Nandigram, which had drawn nationwide attention after Mamata decided to change her Kolkata constituency and contest against her former lieutenant Adhikari.

According to the data available with the state election commission, there is no BJP candidate in 66 gram panchayat seats and seven panchayat samiti seats in Nandigram. In Nandigram panchayat's 19 seats, the BJP is missing in eight. In Kendamari-Jalpai panchayat in Nandigram-I panchayat samiti has a total of 22 seats and the BJP failed to field a single candidate there. The panchayat has three seats for the panchayat samiti, the middle-tier of the rural polls, and the election will be held without any face representing the saffron camp.

The BJP has, however, managed to field 10 candidates in Kalicharanpur panchayat out of its 17 seats and in Daudpur panchayat, lotus has bloomed on the walls of seven seats as the saffron camp has no candidate in rest 10 seats.

The party is trying to ensure none of its candidates will be forced to withdraw nominations by the TMC on Tuesday, the deadline for withdrawing candidature. "The TMC is trying to force at least 20,000 of our candidates out of 56,000 to withdraw their nominations to maximise their uncontested wins. We will fight against their atrocities with our full capacity," said BJP's state president Sukanta Majumdar.

With violence continuing unabated ahead of the nomination process, opposition parties are accusing the TMC of flexing muscles to force candidates of its rival parties to withdraw their nominations on Tuesday.

The TMC, however, refuted the allegations. "The BJP failed to field candidates in one-third of the seats in Nandigram and is trying to malign the TMC," said a TMC leader in Nandigram.

The large-scale violence during nomination filing resulted Governor C V Ananda Bose's visit to Bhangar in South 24-Parganas where two persons were shot dead on the last day of submitting nominations on June 15.

TMC MP's 3 aunts to vie for same seat

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Kolkata

THREE relatives of Trinamool Congress MP Mimi Chakrabarty have joined rural poll bandwagon in Jalpaiguri district. Curiously, the three are pitted against each other representing bitter political rival -- TMC and CPM and Congress.

Though the TMC is hitting out at opposition for allegedly maligning the ruling party for inciting violence, Mimi, the MP from Jadavpur, wished her three aunts "best of luck".

The TMC, on its part, says the candidature of the three women of a family is an example of "democracy for all" in the state. In the Chakrabartry family, the three sisters-in-law Punam, Porna and Kanta will contest each other. Punam and Porna are candidates of TMC and CPM respectively. Kanta is is a Congress candidate.

"Political battle has nothing to do with our family relationship. We leave the electoral battle outside before entering home," said Punam. The three homemakers are candidates of Kharia panchayat in Jalpaiguri sadar block.

5 years after Central rule, no clarity on J&K poll schedule

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

JAMMU and Kashmir has completed five years under direct central rule, but there is still no clarity on when the Assembly polls would be held in the Union Territory, said former Chief Minister and National Conference vice president Omar Abdullah adding that "democracy ends where J&K begins".

"Democracy is in our veins, it is in our culture'; 'India is the mother of democracy'; 'India is the temple of democracy'. Great sounding words that the international community lap up & regurgitate ad-nauseam. Meanwhile J&K completes 5 years under central rule today. Democracy ends where J&K begins," tweeted Abdullah.

J&K was bifurcated into two Union Territories (Uts) – Jammu& Kashmir and Ladakh - and its special status was abrogated by the Centre on August 5, 2019. The state is hence being governed by Lt Governor Manoj Sinha. J&K has been under direct central rule since the collapse of PDP-BJP coalition government headed by Mehbooba Mufti on June 19, 2018 after BJP withdrew support to the government citing security concerns.

It is the second longest spell of direct central rule in J&K. Earlier, J&K remained under 81 months of central (governor's/president's rule) from January 19, 1990 to October 9, 1996, when militancy was at its peak.

After the fall of the PDP-BJP coalition government, the Governor's rule had to be imposed in J&K for six months before imposition of President's rule under Article 92 of the J&K Constitution. On November 21, then J&K Governor Satya Pal Malik dissolved the Assembly after PDP supported by Congress and NC staked claim on government formation and two-member Peoples Conference on government formation.

Kolkata Municipal Corporation (KMC) Mayor Firhad Hakim said scarcity of potable water in the state capital will not end unless the wastage is cut down. He said that 30 to 40% of the potable water produced in the city is wasted. The demand-supply mismatch is acutely felt in parts of southeast Kolkata, Kasba, Behala and Jadavpur.

Rath Yatra theme on Odisha train tragedy

The theme of this year's Rath Yatra, organised by the International Society for Krishna Consciousness (ISKCON), is in light of the train crash in Odisha as well as increasing mental illness. # BJP, Cong in war of words over Gita Press

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Congress' criticism over Centre's decision to award the Gandhi Peace Prize to Gita Press triggered a prompt rebuttal from the BJP on Monday. Union Minister Jitendra Singh, attacking the Congress said that nobody has any objection to it except those who consider Muslim League a secular organisation.

"Gita Press is associated with India's culture, our ethos and Hindu belief, and it produces affordable literature which reaches every household," Singh said at a press conference here. Congress general secretary-incharge of communications Jairam Ramesh had on Sunday alleged that the decision to honour Gita Press with the Gandhi Peace Prize is a "travesty" and "it's like awarding Savarkar and Godse'. Ramesh had tweeted, "The Gandhi Peace Prize for 2021 has been conferred on the Gita Press at Gorakhpur which is celebrating its centenary this year."

"There is a very fine biography from 2015 of this organisation by Akshaya Mukul in which he unearths the stormy relations it had with the Mahatma and the running battles it carried on with him on his political, religious and social agenda," he said.

Transgenders in J'khand to get social security pension

MUKESH RANJAN @ Ranchi

JHARKHAND government is all set to give ₹1,000 monthly social security pension to transgender persons in the state. According to officials, those transgenders who have crossed the age of 18 years and have voter ID cards, will be eligible to avail the scheme.

Sources in the Social welfare department claimed that they have made a proposal in this regard which has been approved by the state minister Joba Manjhi.

A formal notification will be issued in this regard after a nod from the State Cabinet, they said. Social Welfare Commissioner Kripanand Jha also asserted that the proposal has been prepared by the department.

"A provision of giving monthly pension of Rs 1,000 to the transgenders has been made in the proposal prepared by the department with a pre-condition that they are above 18 years of age and have a voter ID card in their name," said the Social Welfare Commissioner Kripanand Jha.

Only those persons will be considered for this pension scheme who have been issued certificate from a deputy commissioner level officer, he said.

The Secretary further added that those who want to avail the scheme will have to submit an application to the Block Development Officer (BDO) in rural areas and to the Circle Officer (CO) in municipal area along with the copies of their Aadhaar Card, voter ID card, Bank Passbook and the transgender certificate issued by the Deputy Commissioner. They will receive the monthly pension by fifth of every month in their bank accounts, he added.

However, those transgenders getting family pension, paying income tax or availing any other benefits under social security scheme, will not be eligible for the scheme. Departmental sources informed that though there is no provision in the budget for this scheme in the current financial year, a provision will be made for it through a supplementary budget.

The transgender community has welcomed the decision saying that it will be a great relief for them in their old age as there is noone to support them.

"A monthly pension will prove to be a boon for the transgenders as we don't have any other source of income or anybody to support us in our old age. Otherwise also, since all transgenders are not well to do, monthly pension would be a great relief for them," said a transgender Bebo in Jamshedpur. As per government records, there are nearly 14000 individuals in transgender community all over the state. Meanwhile, Soren on Monday launched – panchayat-level medicine shop scheme, by handing over the licenses to the educated youth.

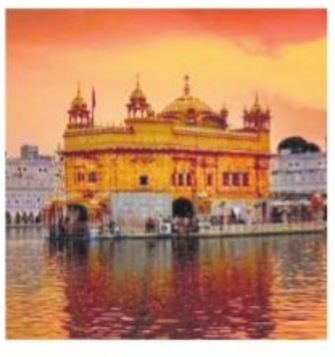
AAP-SGPC row: Mann govt to bring bill on free telecast of Sikh prayers

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh



THE AAP-led Punjab government and apex religious body of Sikhs Shiromani Gurdwara Parbandhak Committee (SGPC) are at loggerheads over the telecast of Gurbani from the Golden Temple. The Punjab cabinet on Monday approved an amendment in the Sikh Gurdwara Act, 1925 to make transmission of Gurbani from the Golden Temple in Amritsar free for all.

The bill would be tabled in the ongoing special session of the Punjab assembly on Tuesday for discussion and is likely to be passed. On the other hand, the SGPC's direct interference in the religious affairs of Sikhs may let the controversy snowball further.

After the state cabinet meeting, Punjab Chief Minister Bhagwant Mann said that the cabinet has approved the amendment of the Sikh Gurdwaras Act, 1925 and to insert Section 125 A – thereby casting duty on the SGPC to ensure free to air live telecast of the Gurbani from the Golden Temple. The CM said that this amendment has been made with the objective to 'enable entire humanity' to listen to and see the live telecast of Gurbani, free of cost.

He said that this move is also aimed at checking commercialisation of the Gurbani in any manner. The act will be called the Sikh Gurdwaras (Amendment) Act, Mann clarified. He said that the Act stipulates that it will be the duty of the SGPC board to propagate the teachings of Gurus uninterrupted – without any on-screen ads or commercials – and to make it available free of cost to all media outlets, platforms, channels etc. He said that as a humble and Sikh devotee, he is a votary of free to air telecast of the Gurbani across the globe.

Shiromani Gurdwara Parbandhak Committee (SGPC), President Harjinder Singh Dhami said that adding a new clause in the Sikh Gurdwaras Act, 1925 can only be done by the Union government through the Parliament of the country as per the recommendations of the General House of the SGPC. He said that Mann wants to please his masters in Delhi by giving a political color to the religious affairs of the Sikhs.

About the broadcast of Gurbani from Golden Temple, he said that the worldwide broadcast of Gurbani is already going on, with which the Sangat (community) everywhere are satisfied and no money is taken from the community.

Support for CTBT entry into force grows, US vows support

S V KRISHNA CHAITANYA @ Vienna

THE Comprehensive Nuclear-Test-Ban Treaty (CTBT), which opened for signature in 1996 but is yet to enter into force, received support from the two biggest 'hold out' countries - the United States and China, both States Signatories, on Monday during the high-level opening session of a Science and Technology Conference organised in Vienna. India did not ratify nor sign the CTBT and its representative was noticeably absent.

The CTBT, whose primary objective is to ban nuclear test explosions by everyone everywhere, has near-universal support, signed by 186 States to date and ratified by 177. However, 44 specific nuclear technology holder countries listed in Annex 2 of the Treaty must sign and ratify before the CTBT can enter into force as international law. Ratification by eight of these so-called Annex 2 States is still required: China, Egypt, India, Iran, Israel, North Korea, Pakistan, and the United States. Of these, India, North Korea and Pakistan are yet to sign the Treaty.

India appeared to be absent from the event, considering its traditional objections. In September 2021, foreign secretary Harsh Vardhan Shringla, while addressing the UN Security Council, said CTBT does not address a number of concerns raised by India. He, however, added: "India maintains a voluntary, unilateral moratorium on nuclear explosive testing."

In response to a query, CTBTO Executive Secretary Dr Robert Floyd told this newspaper, "Invitations were extended to all States Signatories and observers. A small number of States that have shown very strong interest in signing the Treaty where also afforded the invitation as special guests. CTBTO welcomes further and deeper engagement with India."

One of the core issues India has is the Treaty allowing the nuclear powers to conduct subcritical tests for advancement of nuclear weapons. In fact, Jill Hruby, Under Secretary of Energy for Nuclear Security and Administrator of the National Nuclear Security Administration in the United States, said it was building two new subcritical experimental test beds at Nevada and was preparing to execute two subcritical experiments in 2024.

Subcritical experiments simulate aspects of nuclear explosions using chemical explosives. Hruby was a keynote speaker at the Vienna conference. It saw participation from 147 countries.

However, Jill said the US was open to hosting international observers for monitoring and verification of subcritical experiments. The US, as a signatory, continues to observe a moratorium on nuclear test explosions, and calls on all states possessing nuclear weapons to declare and maintain such a moratorium. Pledging support for CTBT universalisation, Hruby said: "With the current international environment that includes countries making advancements in their nuclear arsenals, and some threatening to use it, the CTBT and the associated monitoring and verification regime are more important than ever. The US supports the CTBT and is committed to work to achieve its entry into force, recognising the significant challenges that lie ahead in reaching this goal."

Meanwhile, Li Song, Permanent Representative of China also made a commitment to work towards CTBT's entry into force.

Dr Floyd said although the Treaty hasn't entered into force, it is already a success considering a meagre number of nuclear tests were conducted post 1996, the year when Treaty was opened for signature. Before that, over 2,000 tests were conducted.

"This is a success on a grand scale... Don't try to test it, you'll get caught," Floyd said.

CTBTO officials said more pledges were coming in at the conference, including Somalia and South Sudan. Recently, Sri Lanka and Papua New Guinea completed their domestic processes for ratification.

Rafael Mariano Grossi, Director General of IAEA said he was just back from a combat zone where the IAEA is trying to prevent a nuclear accident. "It is reassuring for all of us to hear from executive secretary Floyd and from his team of experts, the world's most brilliant seismologists... that they have everything in place to make sure that no nuclear test will go undetected."

Izumi Nakamitsu, UN Under-Secretary-General and High Representative for Disarmament Affairs, said CTBTO's International Monitoring System has been effective in serving its core purpose of detecting nuclear tests.

Xi meets Blinken, says agreement reached on some specific issues

Chinese President expects positive contribution from US Secretary of State to stabilise ties

BEIJING

US Secretary of State Antony Blinken on Monday met with Chinese President Xi Jinping who said an agreement on "some specific issues" has been reached during the extensive talks between the top diplomats of the two countries amidst tense ties.

After hours of uncertainty, Blinken met Xi on the last day of his two-day high-stakes visit during which the Chinese president spoke of an agreement without providing any details.

In his opening remarks, Xi said that China's top diplomat and Director of Foreign Affairs Wang Yi and Foreign Minister Qin Gang described their talks with Blinken as candid as well as in-depth.

Xi said China has made its position clear and both sides had reached an agreement on "some specific issues" but did not elaborate.

The Chinese side has made its position clear, and the two sides have agreed to "follow through with the common understanding President Joe Biden and I had reached in Bali," state-run CGTN quoted Xi as saying.

"The two sides also made progress and reached an agreement on some specific issues," Xi said. "State-to-state interactions should always be based on mutual respect and sincerity. I hope that Secretary Blinken, through this visit, could make a positive contribution to stabilising China-US relations," he said.

Xi told Blinken that the world needs a generally stable China-US relationship, and whether the two countries can find the right way to get along bears on the future of humanity.

The Chinese, like the Americans, are dignified, confident and self-reliant people, and they both have the right to pursue a better life, he said.

Noting that the common interests of the two countries should be valued and their respective success is an opportunity instead of a threat to each other, Xi said the two countries should act with a sense of responsibility for history, for the people and for the world, and handle China-US relations properly, according to an official press release.

Meanwhile, Blinken said on Monday that China had renewed promises not to send arms to Russia to fight in Ukraine, although he voiced concern at the actions of private Chinese firms. "We—and other countries—have received assurances from China that it is not and will not provide lethal assistance to Russia for use in Ukraine," Blinken told reporters. Agencies

Byju's fresh layoffs to impact 1,000

Decision comes at a time when edtech firm halts payments on a $1.2 billion Term Loan B

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

TWO weeks after deciding to halt payments to lenders, edtech firm Byju's has reportedly cut nearly 1,000 jobs across various departments. The edtech firm is said to be decided to cut jobs with an aim to improve its finances.

This decision comes at a crucial time when Byju's hasn't made any further payments including interest on a $1.2 billion Term Loan B (TLB). A couple of employees who have been laid off told this newspaper that many employees have been receiving layoff mails and that they were informed about the retrenchment last week.

An employee at Byju's in a LinkedIn post said that he worked hard and was always available 24/7 for the company. He said the company has asked him to resign immediately and that he would not complain anything against the edtech firm as it helped him last year when he was searching for a job by offering him one. He further added that the work culture at Byju's was good and that they would have taken this decision since they might be in trouble.

He is yet to inform his family and he said he doesn't have the courage to inform them as he is the sole breadwinner in the family.

When asked about layoffs, Byju's declined to comment. In the past one year alone, the company has cut close to 3,000 jobs. The company last year announced that it was aiming to achieve profitability by March 2023, and will cut 2,500 jobs. It is yet to file its financial results for FY22. Apart from 2,500 job cuts, last year it had also laid off 500 jobs across Toppr and WhiteHat Jr.

Byju's has been backed by prominent investors such as Chan-Zuckerberg Initiative, Naspers, CPPIB, General Atlantic, Tencent, Sequoia Capital, Lightspeed Ventures, Tiger Global, Owl Ventures & Qatar Investment Authority, among others. The country's most valued edtech firm recently announced that it will launch initial public offer (IPO) of its subsidiary, Aakash Education Services Limited (AESL) mid next year.

The upcoming IPO will provide a significant capital infusion to bolster Aakash's infrastructure, broaden its reach, and extend high-quality test-prep education to a larger number of students across the nation. Since acquisition, Aakash has clocked a three-fold increase in revenue in the last two years. AESL's revenue is on track to reach ₹4,000 crore with an EBITDA of ₹900 crore in the fiscal year 2023-24, Byju's said.

SAT to hear plea of Chandra, Goenka on June 26

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

THE Securities Appellate Tribunal (SAT) on Monday said that it would hear plea of Zee Entertainment Enterprises managing director and chief executive Punit Goenka and Essel Group chairman Subhash Chandra challenging the interim order of the Securities and Exchange Board of India (Sebi) that bars them from holding any key positions in any listed company.

Senior Advocate Janak Dwarkadas appearing on behalf of Goenka asked for a stay on Sebi's order and said that the regulator has no evidence beyond bank statements to prove allegations of round-tripping of funds, and it cannot pass ex parte order. There is also no urgency to pass such an order as there is no market manipulation involved. It did not even provide Chandra and Goenka with an opportunity to be heard, he added.

In the interim order on June 12, Sebi barred Essel Group chairman Subhash Chandra and Punit Goenka from holding the position of director or key managerial personnel in any listed company for siphoning off funds of the media firm. Both Chandra and Goenka moved SAT seeking a stay on the Sebi order, citing injustice.

The tribunal had asked Sebi to file a reply in the matter before the appellant before 2 pm on June 18.

Market regulator in its affidavit to SAT called for urgent action against the promoters in the alleged fund diversion case to safeguard the management, investors and other stakeholders. In the affidavit, Sebi alleged that promoters created a facade through sham entries to misrepresent investors and the regulator about the repayment of Rs 200 crore to ZEEL by seven related parties.

The regulator pointed out that the applications made by Chandra and Goenka on July 6, 2022, that there was no urgency and that the same issue is the subject matter of the show cause notice dated July 6, 2022, is completely false and misleading.

Sebi further stated that "not only have there been violations but also the issuance of multiple false disclosures and submission of statements to cover up such wrongdoings."

Sebi also submitted that the appellants had not produced any material to indicate they had suffered any prejudice by not getting a personal hearing before the interim order was passed. The regulator said it was willing to give an immediate hearing for the appellants "as early as required".

Supreme Court rejects CIL's petition against CCI order

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

A three-judge bench of the Supreme Court has rejected a Coal India Ltd (CIL) plea in which the PSU had argued that it is outside the purview of the Competition Act.

The three judge bench comprising KM Joseph didn't find merit in CIL's contention that Competition Act will not apply to it as it is governed by the Nationalisation Act.

CIL had argued that the Nationalisation Act can't be reconciled with the Competition Act. It contented that 'the very purpose and policy underlying the Nationalization Act, was to monopolise the operation of coal mines and mining in the hands of the central government and its agencies' such as CIL. "It is not an ordinary monopoly," said CIL in its submission. However, the three-judge bench rejected its argument. "Parliament has authored both the Nationalisation Act as also the (Competition) Act. There is no question of lack of legislative competence," the court said while rejecting Coal India's appeal.

CIL had moved the apex court against a Competition Appellate Tribunal order affirming an order by the Competition Commission of India (CCI), which found the government-owned mining company involved in abuse of its dominant position. The CCI in its submission to the court had said that there is no conflict between the Nationalisation Act and the Competition Act in 'keeping with the changing times and the imperative need to ensure the best economic interest of the nation'.

Sebi bars IIFL Sec from onboarding clients for 2 yrs

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

THE Securities and Exchange Board of India (Sebi) on Monday barred brokerage IIFL Securities from onboarding new clients for two years for misutilisation of client funds.

The order came after the capital markets regulator conducted multiple inspections of the books of account of IIFL for the period April 2011 to January 2017. In its probe, Sebi found IIFL had misused the funds of its credit balance clients for settlement of its proprietary trades as well as the trades of its debit balance clients from April 2011 to June 2014, and the said violations were again noticed during March 2017 inspection for the period of FY 2015-16 and 2016-17.

"Taking into account the aforementioned data, I do not find any difficulty in holding that the Noticee (IIFL) by misusing the monies of credit clients to fund the trades of clients having debit balance in its records as well as for its own proprietary trades, has violated the provisions of ...Sebi 1993 circular," Sebi whole-time member SK Mohanty said in his 64-page final order.

The funding of debit balance clients' trades using funds of credit balance clients has been done by IIFL on a total of 795 trading days out of 809 total trading days covered for examination during the inspection period from April 1, 2011, to June 30, 2014, and on 30 trading days during April 1, 2015, to January 31, 2017, Sebi noted.

The company had also used the funds of clients having credit balances to fund its own proprietary transactions on 42 trading days during the inspection period from April 2011 to June 2014.

In addition, the broking firm also breached provisions of the code of conduct prescribed under stock broker rules, which every registered stockbroker is obligated to adhere to.

"IIFL had acted in complete disregard of the legitimate interests of its credit balance clients and has not only benefitted itself but also provided benefits to its debit balance clients at the cost of its credit balance clients by using funds of credit balance clients to settle its own proprietary trades as well as the trades of its debit balance clients to the tune of hundreds of crores of rupees," he added.

Mojocare lays off 170, investors flag irregularities

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

MAJOR investors of health-tech start-up Mojocare have uncovered 'financial irregularities', and have initiated a review of the company's financial statements. The start-up has also laid off 170 employees..

Investors of the start-up include Peak XV Partners (Sequoia India), B Capital and Chiratae Ventures. In a statement, they said, "While the analysis remains ongoing, initial findings have uncovered financial irregularities, and it has become apparent that the business model is not sustainable due to a variety of operational and market factors. As a result, Mojocare will be scaling down operations, and the investor group is working with the company via its transition." In August last year, the start-up, founded by Rajat Gupta and Ashwin Swaminathan, had raised $20.6 million.

Earlier, Online car service and repair start-up GoMechanic too had faced similar issue and they admitted to financial reporting 'errors'. Both start-ups are backed by Sequoia and Chiratae Ventures, among others.

When asked about such financial irregularities that are being witnessed by some Indian start-ups, Anil Joshi, Managing Partner, Unicorn India Ventures, told this newspaper that such discoveries undoubtedly impact the entire ecosystem.

"VCs have to deal with fund life and want to see their companies grow, but it doesn't mean the growth should come at the cost of financial irregularities. It is true growth attracts attention for further funding but ignoring the mismanagement leads to question trust and intent. It would be wrong to paint everyone with the same brush but the fact is irregularities are happening at a large level," he said.

In most cases founders are first-time entrepreneurs and lack managing financial discipline in order to gain traction and at a fast pace. In most cases, they miss building strong backend operations including finance management, he added.

Govt fears distress in gold industry as imports fall 40%

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

AS gold imports fell in April-May of current financial year by nearly 40%, commerce ministry officials have turned vigilant of the situation, according to government sources.

A top government official told this newspaper they are keeping an eye on the situation as the continuity of fall in demand could cause distress in the sector, which employs lakhs of people.

Gold imports declined by more than 39% in April-May on an year-on-year basis due to high import duty, the government said while releasing the monthly trade data last week. Gold prices since March are hovering around 60,000-62,000 per 10 grams.

"We are monitoring the situation. The big fall in imports of yellow metal is a concern as it may cause distress in the sector which employs millions of people," a top official told this newspaper.

According to experts, skyrocketing gold prices, preference of ETFs over physical metal and attractive sovereign gold bond schemes are major contributory factors for massive decline in gold imports. Though there is no distress as of now in the sector, if the situation persists for long then it will become a serious concern for the sector and the economy as a whole, say experts.

"Gold prices are high because of global uncertainties, high import duty and economic slowdown. There is a decline in imports because of soaring prices," Suvankar Sen, managing director and CEO of Senco Gold, said.

However, he added that there is no distress in the sector and a lot of old gold exchange is happening amongst customers as recycled gold is coming back due to mandatory hallmarking.

Meanwhile, Jigar Trivedi, Analyst with Reliance Money said," People are preferring sovereign gold bond schemes over physical gold. Also gold ETFs and investment in equities are giving better returns, so people are skeptical about gold buying."

Ajay Kedia, founder of Kedia Advisory, echoed the same views.

Kedia said that the gold demand has been getting impacted because of the various government investment schemes like gold ETF, sovereign gold bond.

In addition, CA Jai Prakash Kabra, founder of Reshamm Group having its division of light weight gold jewellery said, there is a liquidity crunch in the market which is indirectly impacting the demand for gold.

"Majorly housewives save some money to buy gold but now there is not enough cash in circulation which is impacting the demand. Though the revenues haven't fallen but definitely there is a decline in the overall footfall in the market," Kabra said.

Decline in import because of high import duty

Gold imports declined by more than 39% in April-May on an year-on-year basis due to high import duty, the government said while releasing the monthly trade data last week. Gold prices since March are hovering around 60,000-62,000 per 10 grams. # Withdrawal of ₹2,000 note to boost consumption, fuel growth: Report

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

THE decision to withdraw ₹2,000 note is expected to boost consumption and fuel economic growth, said a report.

According to a recent report by the State Bank of India, the country's GDP (gross domestic product) growth may exceed 6.5% in the current financial year. The demonetisation will also boost bank deposits, repayment of loans and usage of central bank digital currency, added the repot. The Reserve Bank of India (RBI) has estimated GDP growth to be 6.5%for 2023-24.

"We expect Q1FY24 GDP growth at 8.1% with an upward bias due to the impact of ₹2000 note withdrawal event...this reinforces our projection that FY24 GDP could be higher than 6.5 per cent, basis the RBI estimate," the note said.

Banks have starting accepting ₹2,000 note for deposits and exchange from May 23 after the RBI announced the withdrawal of these notes.

As per the RBI, over half of the currency notes in the denomination have returned back, with 85% of it coming as deposits into banks, while the remaining 15% have been exchanged at bank counters. Based on this experience, the SBI note said the consumption can get a ₹55,000 crore boost because of the move."One of the major benefits of withdrawal of ₹2000 note might be the immediate uptick in consumption demand. As per our estimate consumption demand may be frontloaded by ₹55,000 crore," said the report.

"Nearly ₹55,000 crore could be withdrawn by public from about ₹92,000 crore saving bank deposits to be made cumulatively through ₹2000 notes. This should give consumption boost along with increasing the velocity of money," it added.

It estimated ₹3.08 lakh crore to come back as deposits into the system, of which ₹92,000 crore will come into saving banks accounts, of which 60 per cent will get withdrawn, thus giving an immediate increase in consumption at Rs 55,000 crore. In the long run, the boost can be ₹1.83 lakh crore because of the consumption multiplier.

Upstox to diversify product portfolio, plans to launch fixed deposits, bonds

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Chennai

UPSTOX, an online discount broker, plans to diversify its portfolio with focus on wealth management to retain its existing user base.

The company plans to introduce sovereign gold bonds, fixed deposits, account aggregator, Shrini Vishwanath its co-founder said in a media interaction in the city on Monday. "We are also in talks with non-banking financial corporations and all these talks are in an early-stage," he said adding that their focus will remain on trading and investment. The account aggregator feature is expected to be introduced in a few months.

"We also want to diversify our product offering and planning to apply for an Asset Management Company (AMC) licence." The company is expected to apply in the current fiscal.

"Not all features have revenue potential, but we're introducing this based on the customer demands," he added.

Upstox's customer base grew from 1 million in 2020 to over 10 million at present, boosted by the pandemic. However with weak market conditions, people who entered the market since 2020, many of whom are first-time investors, are not able to see profits like they did for the last three years.

Upstox's active clients and market share has reportedly dipped this January on a yearly basis. Responding to a question on market volatility, Vishwanath acknowledged that trade volumes on the platform were declining last year.

However, the company declined to reveal further details. However he argued that it is temporary.

Mumbai-based Upstok founded in 2009, backed by investors like Ratan Tata and Tiger Global crossed ₹1000 crore broking revenue and got break-even in the financial year (FY23).

The company generated positive net cash flow of nearly ₹130 crore in the last quarter of FY23. Upstox has set a target of 40% revenue growth in the current fiscal.

Nomination deadline extension may give fresh twist to WFI elections

FIROZ MIRZA @Chennai

THE two-day extension of the last date to receive nomination for constitution of electoral college may give a new twist to the proposed Wrestling Federation of India (WFI) election. As per the special general meeting notice issued on June 13, the deadline for receiving names of electoral college from various affiliated state units ended on Monday. Now, the same has been extended till midnight on June 21. This may have a bearing in the final outcome of nominations and even elections.

"I am directed to convey that representation from various wrestling bodies including Haryana, Rajasthan, Himachal Pradesh, Maharashtra, and Telangana have been received claiming eligibility to nominate members for the constitution of electoral college. The returning officer has invited the aforesaid representatives for hearing on 21/6/2023 between 3 PM to 4 PM. It would be futile if the last date for nomination of members of electoral college is maintained for 19/6/2023. Accordingly, the last date for nomination of members of electoral college is extended to 21/6/2023 till 12 midnight," read the information circulated by assistant returning officer Tapas Kumar Bhattacharya on Monday. An official pointed out the weird hour (12 midnight) the nomination deadline is ending.

It said that the decision was taken as five more state units claimed eligibility to nominate members apart from those who are affiliated units of the WFI. But it also gives liberty to those who have already sent their nominations to make changes by June 21. All the 25 affiliated state associations have sent their nominations by Monday. One of the state units has already sent a request in this regard to the ad-hoc committee formed by the Indian Olympic Association (IOA) to look after the day-to-day affairs of the federation.

"Odisha sent a request in this regard to the ad-hoc committee. Earlier, it sent the names of its secretary and treasurer but now it has requested the panel to give time to rethink its decision. Apparently, the Odisha Olympic Association wants the state unit to rethink and send the names again," a source in the know of the development told this daily.

Odisha Wrestling Association secretary Ashok Behera confirmed that they have sent the request but claimed it was not done on insistence from the state olympic body. "We may or may not change the names. Anyway, now the deadline has been extended so we have time," he said. An official overseeing the election process said the extension of the deadline has made it open for everyone as even they can make changes if they wish.

Meanwhile, Bhattacharya also clarified that there will be no change in other dates and election schedules. It means preparation and display of the electoral college and circulation to affiliated and publishing the same on the website of IOA/WFI will be done on June 22. Earlier, the returning officer had three days for the purpose but now he will have only a few hours to do so.

As per the WFI constitution, each state unit can send two names who can vote during the election. The WFI has 25 state units taking the vote tally to 50. While it was assumed in the beginning that election would not affect the outgoing president Brij Bhushan Sharan Singh as he has numbers by his side to ensure victory for his candidate even though he is not eligible to contest, the recent development may change the equation. If the five state units whose representatives will be heard on June 21 get voting rights, it can make the process interesting. Besides, if others also change their nominations then the outcome of the polls will be surprising," the source added.

The candidatures for elections can be submitted between June 23 to 25 while the same can be withdrawn between June 28 and July 1. The returning officer will prepare and display the final list of contesting candidates on July 2 with elections scheduled on July 6

Experienced shot putter steals show with record throw, javelin thrower Kishore hurls personal best to clinch silver

Toor raises bar, Kishore Kumar on song

TANMAY DAS @Bhubaneswar

As the National Inter-State Senior Athletics Championships took its final turn on Monday, the day suddenly seemed cooler compared to the other four days in Bhubaneswar. There was a waft of breeze and quite a bit of expectation as some top stars hit the track and field for one last time at the event. If other days had its shares of personal bests and Asian Games qualifications, the last day had its share of excitement with a national record.

The shot put circle had its familiar throwers but one that hurled the iron ball to the maximum was the inimitable Tajinderpal Singh Toor. Focussed as always, his third attempt touched 21.77m mark, beating his own national record of 21.49m achieved in 2021. This is an Asian record as well.

It had not been easy for Toor in the last eight months or so. His long-time coach, Mohinder Singh Dhillon, had shifted to Australia last year and he had to train long-distance until he found Prabir Singh. "This season has been good. I had thrown 21.20m in Bengaluru GP earlier and now this national and Asian record," he said. "It has taken some time to settle down after marriage in 2021," he said. "Now I am training with Prabir Singh. Dhillon sahab also taught me a lot." He also talked about the loss of his grandmother. There have been personal setback as well. "There was complication during childbirth and the baby had to be aborted," he said. "You can't do anything about all this. It's not in our hands but one thing is sure after such big set backs God pulls you hand and bring you back."

Kishore Kumar Jena is among the three javelin throwers to have attained Asian Games qualification mark on Monday | SHAMIM QURESHY

Rohit wins gold in javelin

Kishore Kumar Jena started his sporting career as a volleyball player in 2016. Little did he know that one day he would be hurling spears and not spiking volleyball. He was enrolled into the Bhubaneswar sports hostel and things changed after Nilamadhab Deo advised him to take up javelin throw.

On Monday, on his home ground, Jena threw the javelin to a distance he had never thrown before — 82.87m. His previous personal best was 81.05m in March this year. With the throw, he secured silver at the nationals and also attained the Asiad qualification mark of 78.23m. The gold and bronze medal were won by Rohit Yadav (83.28m) and Shivpal Singh (81.96m), who was making a comeback after doping ban. All the three medallists have acquired the Asian Games qualification mark. However, only two players will be part of Asiad. Olympic champion Neeraj Chopra is the automatic choice and it needs to be seen who the Athletics Federation of India prefers as the second man.

"The period between 2018 and 2021 was not good for me," said Jena, who had been training at the national camp in Patiala for more than two years now. "After that my performance is improving. Today's throw is my personal best, my goal is the World Championships qualification mark. During practice I throw 84m plus and I really hope that I touch that figure in competition as well."Like many budding javelin throwers of the country, he also idolises Tokyo Olympics gold medallist Neeraj Chopra. "He not only motivated me to do better but also inspired many young athletes of our country," he said.

Shaili eyes Asian meet

Shaili Singh finished behind Ancy Sojon (6.51m) with a jump of 6.49m, nothing near her personal best of 6.76m. "After Covid she has been struggling with her rhythm a bit," said her coach Robert Bobby George. She had Covid after the Bengaluru meet where she jumped 6.76m. "Today (Monday) also she jumped well but somehow the rhythm was missing. She jumped way behind the board and we will have to work on that."

For Shaili, it will be back in training until the Asian Championships in Bangkok next month. "After the Asian Championships we are looking at a couple of events in Switzerland," said Robert, who is hoping that she would qualify for the World Championships at Budapest in August. "If she can finish with a good jump and a good position in Asian meet, she will have a real chance for the Worlds," said Robert.

In the men's event, M Sreeshankar could manage 8.29m in the second of the two legitimate jumps he had in the final. His qualification mark of 8.41m was enough for direct qualification for the World Championships.

'See you soon India': Pak get visa for SAFF C'ships

VISHNU PRASAD @Bengaluru

THE uncertainty is finally over! After weeks of speculation, it has finally been confirmed that the Pakistan football team will travel to Bengaluru for the SAFF Championships starting on Wednesday. The final hurdle too was surmounted after the team was granted visas to travel to India on Monday.

The Pakistan Football Federation (PFF) confirmed the news through a press release circulated to Pakistani media. "The Pakistan football team was issued visas from Mauritius to go to India," the communication, originally in Urdu, said. "The Indian High Commission in Mauritius issued visas to the Pakistan Football team."

Even since the fixtures and dates for the tournament were announced, there had been much doubt over whether Pakistan would be able to participate. There was concern whether the standoff between the cricket boards of the two countries would spill into football as well. However, both football federations had made it clear that Pakistan wanted to participate and had completed the necessary paperwork.

There was much less clarity over whether the Pakistani government was going to allow the team to travel. They certainly took their time to make up their mind — according to reports in Pakistani media, the delay in issuing the No Objection Certificates from the concerned ministries meant that Pakistan Football Federation could only apply for Indian visas with less than a week left for the tournament.

During the delay, the PFF had even taken to social media to vent their frustration. Following Monday's developments, they tweeted "See you soon India". However, the Pakistan team still have a tough journey ahead of them. The delay in getting a visa means that they will have to take a last-minute flight to Bengaluru. The team is currently in Mauritius to play a series of friendly matches.

As of now, they are only likely to arrive in Bengaluru either late on Tuesday night or early on Wednesday morning. Either way, they will only have a few hours to rest before they boot up for their tournament opener against India on Wednesday.

Multiple reports quoted PFF officials as hoping for a rescheduling of their match against India. However, All India Football Federation general secretary Shaji Prabhakaran, confirmed to this daily, saying that the match will be go on as per the original schedule.

Verstappen ties Senna in F1 wins in Canada

AP @Montreal

WHEN he won the pole in the pouring rain, Max Verstappen was quick to explain that it had been his father who would stand on the wet track during his early days of karting and point him to the correct driving lines.

So when Verstappen won the Canadian Grand Prix on Father's Day 'a 41st victory that tied the Dutchman for fifth on the all-time Formula One wins list with the late Ayrton Senna and gave Red Bull its 100th win as an organization ' he was quick to salute the man who had molded him into the two-time reigning world champion. The 25-year-old reminisced of the days he and Jos Verstappen traveled by van throughout Europe to his karting races, the father hoping to raise a winner. Jos Verstappen made 107 F1 starts and was once a teammate of Michael Schumacher. "Without him I would not sit here today," Verstappen said of his father.

Ashes opener promises thrilling Day 5

AGENCIES @Birmingham

STUART Broad produced the biog breakthroughs of Steve Smith and Marnus Labuschagne late on Day Four to leave the first Ashes Test in the balance going into the last day. Australia need 174 more runs to win but have only seven wickets remaining. However, with plenty of rain forecast on Tuesday, the finely poised opener could yet become anti-climatic.

Monday was anything but. England, showing intent with Joe Root trying to reverse-ramp Pat Cummins' opening delivery, motored along in the first hour of play. The former England skipper demonstrated the range of his strokeplay in two balls from Scott Boland in the next over. A classical legside clip for four was followed by a spectacular reverse ramp for six. But Cummins hit back when he bowled Pope (14) with a near-unplayable thunderbolt yorker that left England 77-3. Nathan Lyon made the crucial breakthrough when the advancing Root slogged and missed, with wicketkeeper Alex Carey completing a neat legside dismissal as the star batsman, who faced just 55 balls, was stumped for the first time in his 240 Test innings. While none of the English batters reach a 50, almost all of them got off to starts and that enough to lift the hosts to 273.

England's Stuart Broad (C) celebrates after dismissing Marnus Labuschagne

The visitors began well, with David Warner and Khawaja stitching a 61-run stand before Ollie Robinson found Warner's outside edge. Nightwatchman Scott Boland survived a few nervy moments to give Khawaja company at close of play.

Brief scores: England 393/8d & 273 in 66.2 ovs (Root 46, Brook 46, Stokes 43; Cummins 4/63, Lyon 4/80) vs Australia 386 & 107/3 in 30 ovs (Khawaja 34 batting, Warner 36, Broad 2/28).

Spain snatch Nations League glory on penalties

AFP @Rotterdam (Netherlands)

DANI Carvajal chipped home a Panenka penalty to win Spain the Nations League on Sunday, with a 5-4 shoot-out victory over Croatia, after a tense match finished 0-0 following extra-time. Spain goalkeeper Unai Simon denied Lovro Mayer and Bruno Petkovic from the spot, before Carvajal cheekily chipped home to earn La Roja their first trophy since Euro 2012 and break Croatian hearts.

Zlatko Dalic's side, runners-up at the World Cup in 2018 and third in 2022, have never won a major trophy and were hoping Nations League success would cap a glittering international career for captain Luka Modric, who played his 166th international game. The victory is a confidence boost for new Spain coach Luis de la Fuente after heavy criticism in March after a defeat by Scotland in Euro 2024 qualifying. It also avenged their 2021 final defeat by France. "For us it was a unique opportunity, we went out early in another tournament (at the World Cup in Qatar) and today we had to take advantage," Real Madrid defender Carvajal told Spanish broadcaster TVE. "We had confidence with the penalties and it went well, I knew how I was going to shoot it, and I knew I was going to be sixth... I wanted to take it Panenka style and it went well."

Dalic warned over 25,000 Croatian fans were expected to travel to Rotterdam and they filled the majority of the stadium, De Kuip a sea of red and white checkered squares, save for a modest area of Spanish fans. The Croatians chanted Modric's name in the 10th minute, matching his shirt number, a plea for him not to retire from international duty after the tournament, as had been rumoured.

On the pitch Spain made the early running, with Gavi drilling narrowly wide after pressing furiously to win the ball back.

AN ACTOR'S CRAFT

Comedian-actor Danish Sait talks about working with Malayalam director Lijo Jose Pellissery, his role in Hansal Mehta's Scoop and the American actor Bob Odenkirk's influence on him

TUNIR BISWAS

COMEDIAN and actor, Danish Sait wants to take some rest. "I have been out of the house for six months. I just want to relax right now," he says.

Many will concur that Sait's reasons to take a break are just. The artiste recently announced that he is part of the revered filmmaker Lijo Jose Pellissery's upcoming film Malaikottai Vaaliban, which will also star Mohanlal, one of the icons of Malayalam cinema.

Sait insists working with Pellissery and Mohanlal has been an 'incredible experience'. "Working with Mohanlal sir, who is an icon of our country, was an absolute honour and a privilege for me. I am extremely grateful to our director Lijo for giving me the opportunity. I had some incredible conversations with the two of them. The entire crew comprised of highly accomplished people and it was fantastic to work with them. It is perhaps the greatest experience of my career so far," shares Sait.

During the shoot, the cast and crew had erratic schedules, and the filming happened in some difficult conditions. The group was isolated, and Sait feels that experience made him more comfortable with himself. "A lot of the places where we were shooting were in the wilderness. Usually, my wife accompanies me to all my shoots, but the conditions and my work timings were so hard that I couldn't take her with me. Naturally, I got to spend a lot of time with myself," he says.

Malaikottai Vaaliban, which doesn't have a release date yet, will be Sait's debut in Malayalam cinema. He also acted in the recently released TV series on Netflix titled Scoop, which was helmed by the prominent filmmaker Hansal Mehta. In the show, Sait plays the character Sushant, an anchor at a news channel.

"I did not face too many difficulties playing that character because I have vast experience as a TV presenter. So it's not like I had to research a lot. I did not have too much time either. I was part of the IPL bubble in Mumbai then and had about a day in the middle to shoot for Scoop and I decided to do it. I even got to meet Hansal sir that day. He was very sweet and it all worked out well," he says.

For Sait, there was a very distinct reason behind choosing to work on Malaikottai Vaaliban and Scoop, and that is American actor-comedian Bob Odenkirk's (Breaking Bad and Better Call Saul fame) memoir Comedy Comedy Comedy Drama. "So, Bob Odenkirk had released his memoir just around when I was doing the IPL last year. I happened to get hold of that book, and around then, I was itching to do something different. It gave me great insight into the world of drama and the many kinds of possibilities it offers. I have always reinvented myself from working on the radio to making digital content and now to doing films," shares Sait.

Despite constantly reinventing, Sait, for the better part of his career, has been a lone wolf. But working with people like Pellissery and Mehta has given him a sense of ease.

"I think after One Cut Two Cut released, I found myself getting tired of leading projects. When you mount a project, bring people together and take the responsibility on your shoulders, you sometimes lose out on the craft. Here in the case of Scoop or Malaikottai Vaaliban, it was more about submitting to another person's vision. Both Pellissery and Mehta are among our country's best creators. So, it kind of reset me as an artiste, and it has been a good one so far," he concludes.

Unforgettable Frames

Remembering cinematographer Navroze Contractor, who passed away on Sunday

KAVITHA LANKESH
Film director, screenwriter and lyricist

NAVROZE [Contractor] was always full of life and so creative. I've never worked with him, but he's been a good friend over the years and it was a joyful time to be with him. In fact, we shared a common thing of being finicky about coffee. I remember when we were both on the jury of a short film festival in Kerala. He had brought his own coffee beans to grind! That was the last time I met him, it was quite a few years ago.

As a still photographer, a documentary maker, writer and more, he was this amazing multifaceted man. Devarakadu was an excellent film with his camera work, which at that point was a trendsetter. He's worked with some of the best directors in the field. He would do extensive research for his documentaries. So, he was a very secular and liberal kind of artist. For me, more than his films, his still photography, exhibited all over the world, was an important contribution. He was such a happy person all the time. That will stay in my mind, apart from his camera work and the images he has built for us over the years.

He was also a very outspoken person. He was one of those people who could voice out what he felt since he had travelled across the world, doing his work. And we need people like him more than ever, who can voice their opinions, to survive and continue to live on.

When I heard the news of his passing, I was shocked, because he has always talked about road safety. What an ironic thing for him to go that way, but at the same time, I thought he went doing what he loves best – or one of the many things he loved doing. It's very sad to lose somebody so happy and pragmatic. I was recently watching him talk about his passion for motorcycling with some enthusiasts and he was talking about the various things he'd been doing in Afghanistan. It was hilarious and I was smiling throughout. That is the same kind of feeling you'd get when you met him in person. As people get old, they can get cynical. But I don't think Navroze ever got old!

(As told to Dese Gowda)

Navroze was a great person and a genuine human being. I knew that he rode to his farm in Hosur each week and did a lot of charity there. I am sad at his passing but cannot miss the irony that he died doing something that he was very passionate about: riding his bike. My connection with him is jazz. He was a very well-informed connoseiur. I met him a few times when I performed. He always had a goid wird for me. And as many would know, his photographs of jazz greats are exhibited at the Smithsonian. I will read his book Dreams of The Dragon's Children — Raman, jazz musician

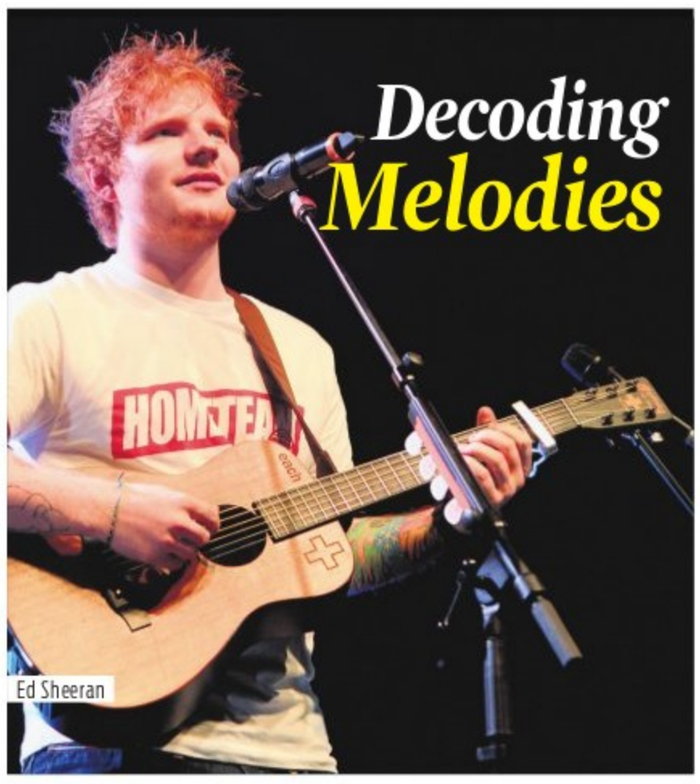
Ahead of World Music Day, learn what makes your favourite songs 'stick' in your head at this musical session

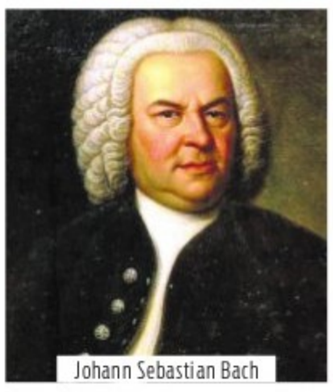
DESE GOWDA

FÊTE de la Musique, also known as World Music Day, is just around the corner and in celebration of the occasion, Bangalore International Centre is organising a special musical session, taking music enthusiasts on an enjoyable journey through the evolution of contemporary music and answering burning questions such as "Why does a melody 'stick' in your head?", "Can anyone write a hit tune?".

How Music Works: From Bach to Ed Sheeran is led by city-based jazz composer and guitarist Abhijit Nath, an graduate of the Berklee College of Music, Boston, USA. Through the one-and-half hour session, Nath will 'demystify' contemporary pop music, of fun examples. "The main focus of the session will be about chords, and how they function – the basis for all music. Their use in different forms of music and how they all follow a similar route. The session goes into how different kinds of music have developed over the last 400 years. It ends up in pop music, but it traces its way to the destination, from all the way back from the roots, starting with Bach. One is the western classical tradition and the second is the original music that African-Americans brought that evolved into forms that we recognise, such as rock, pop music and so on. And also how these two kinds of music interact to make modern pop music what it is today," Nath shares, adding that the session doesn't require attendees to have any knowledge of music.



Ed Sheeran



Johann Sebastian Bach

"It's supposed to be for people who are curious about what makes a particular song catchy or why a particular song sounds good and that kind of stuff. It's open to children as well, not just adults. It's a fun session where you get to learn a bit of the history of music, a bit of the process that goes into making a song and more. I give examples to break down the concepts I'm talking about and, at the end, audiences will be encouraged to write their own songs based on what they learnt from the session," he shares.

Given the permeation of western contemporary music's influence on the majority of mainstream music in recent years, Nath says that the session gives music lovers in the city a better understanding of the music they enjoy. "I think the audience will have a greater appreciation and understanding for whatever music they love. Often, people don't know why they like a particular piece of music, they just know they like it. With this session, they'll be able to understand the former. It'll sort of encourage people to go down the path and learn about their favourite music a little bit more," he adds.

(How Music Works: From Bach to Ed Sheeran will be held on June 21, 7.30pm. Details at bangaloreinternationalcentre.org)

ON THE FAST LANE

This 13-year-old city-based mountain biker, who won the 2022 FIM MiniGP OhVale Championship, speaks to CE about wanting to represent India at the 2028 Olympics

TUNIR BISWAS

NITHILA Das has her eyes set on a dream: to represent India at the 2028 Los Angeles Olympics. In a prodigious manner, the 13-year-old competitive cyclist and motorsport rider ventured into this world when she was only six years old.

"So, I started with mountain biking first when my father introduced me and my brother to it. Initially, my brother was the only one doing it but eventually, I got into it as well. I have been competing unofficially at the MTB Nationals for the past three years. I was too young as per the rules, so I was competing on a special license. However, last year, I competed officially for the first time and secured the bronze medal," says Das, who recently came first in the first round of the TVS Women National Road Racing Championship. She is also the national champion [Girls] of the FIM MiniGP OhVale Championship 2022.

Das believes her father, Nikhil Das, has been an instrumental figure in her career so far. "When I first started getting into cycling, I was kind of lazy. My brother was winning so many medals and I was just feeling a little bad as I wasn't contributing to it. Then I went to my father and he was so supportive. He motivates me a lot and gives me tips as well," shares Das, whose family originally hails from Thiruvananthapuram but they have been residing in Bengaluru since 2005.

The early steps to Olympic glory have already begun for Das. "It's not about a gold medal at the Olympics or anything but I want to reach that level. The first step would be to work towards acing the Nationals, for which I have already begun training hard. I am working towards gaining more and more power and focusing on my nutrition as well, so I am fit enough to compete at the highest of levels," she concludes.

TOLL TANTRUMS

RECENTLY, a highway toll plaza employee was hacked to death by a bunch of angry travellers, supposedly because he took his own sweet time to lift the boom barrier. Clearly, hell hath no fury like a driver stalled.

Not surprising too -- tempers can rise pretty high when one is blocked by a bar, and an obstinate driver. It happens pretty often during the course of a long journey, and call it karma/ luck, we almost invariably find ourselves in a queue which barely moves, gazing at the dusty bumper of an unmoving car, which is behind an unmoving SUV, which is behind a minitruck and another stationary car. Behind us are a few more immobile four-wheelers, all caught neatly in the trap of the toll fee queue. You can't move ahead, you can't reverse, and to our envy, others glide past to our left and right. FASTag? What's that?

The errant driver ahead of us argues with the toll plaza staffer, refuses to pay a fine, and finally bargains and pays cash. By which time, there is an impatient chorus of horns, but he is unmindful of such interruptions. A few furious co-travellers walk up to find out what's happening and even wave fists. But no go. We make good use of the long break by stretching the numb leg, bending a stiff back, washing sleepy eyes and buying guavas and peanuts from a horde of eager vendors. Distractions are aplenty, with the long row making sluggish progress. Of late, we have taken to playing a game of 'eeny-meeny-miney-mo', to guess which queue will move first. And say a quick prayer for quick release.

The break also gives us enough time to chew on some questions: What use is a FASTag in the slow lane? Why this waste of collective time, especially after eating up miles of the highway and trying to stick to schedule? Why boast of RFID technology when it cannot be enforced? Is there no way to keep out recalcitrant drivers who attempt to recharge their accounts right under the boom barrier, or bribe their way out of paying heavy fines? Then there are those who wave VIP cards into the staffers' faces, in typical Indian style, with a "Do you know who I am?" It doesn't work, but no harm trying. Yet others slink through the VIP/ Ambulance lane if it's open. Blacklisting doesn't help either, as drivers brazen it out — they know they hold the advantage, and sooner or later, the barrier has to rise to let them out. Until the next toll plaza.

EXPRESSING WHAT MATTERS

LOVEOLOGY
Mahesh Natarajan
(The author is a counsellor with InnerSight)

THE idea of love languages, as conceptualised by Dr Gary Chapman, had really taken root in popular culture. Based on decades of experience as a marriage counsellor, this idea says we all have different ways in which we express love. Some of us show and expect love through acts of service, by doing things of value for each other. Others do this through gifts, large and small, as tokens of remembrance and importance. Yet others look at the time spent with each other. For some others, it is physical touch that matters - holding hands, small hugs, cuddles, and other things like that.

For a few, of course, it is the verbal expression of love itself. Words of affirmation matter. Sometimes it is the literal 'I love you' and 'I love you too', but it needs to be a whole lot more. Affirmation is not just about 'love' itself but the idea of being important and a priority to each other. It matters that these words of affirmation are actually affirming of the person itself. Simple motivators like, 'I believe in you', or 'You are looking awesome - I can't believe how lucky I am that I get to see you every day', or 'You are so talented!' are part and parcel of these words of affirmation that helps people feel and express love.

We don't really need to say 'I love you'. In fact, if we have our own phrases that are special, that can be a lot more meaningful than three standard 'I love you'. It could be something like, 'You are special to me', or 'I adore you', or, 'You make me feel alive', or anything else that is specifically between you and your beloved will actually be a lot more meaningful than cookie cutter phrases. For people who have words of affirmation as their love language, the more personalised and specific these words are, the more it feels like love.

It is the same with other things as well. For someone who uses gifts as a language of love, if it is constantly scented candles, bits of perfumed soap and things like that, it is going to get very old very fast. If gifts are not personalised and thoughtful, it rarely makes a difference. These scented candles just keep doing the rounds in office secret Santas and things like that - they are not really love, are they. It is the same with even touch. If how we touch a beloved is no different from how we hug or hold dozens of others in the community, it would make no difference. If we are constantly doing acts of service to everyone, that would just make us look like doormats rather than expression of love.

The point is simply this: whatever the language of love one has, it needs to be specific and special about the beloved. Otherwise, it is not going to matter in the long run. Go ahead and check in with yourself. Are you expressing love in a way that's truly experienced as special?

Bad Manners release postponed to July

The film, which was originally scheduled to release on June 23, two weeks after Abhishek's wedding with Aviva Bidappa, will now be released in July. The new release date will be announced once the Censor Board gives clearance.

Produced by KM Sudhir's Studio 18 banner, Bad Manners will be distributed across Karnataka by Jayanna Films. Interestingly, Abishek, who made his debut with Amar, will be seen portraying the role of a cop in Bad Manners. The film, shot over a span of more than 120 days, features Rachita Ram and debutant Priyanka Kumar as the female leads. Bad Manners has music by Charan Raj and cinematography by Shekhar S. Apart from this film, Abhishek's upcoming projects include Kaali with director S Krishna and Mahesh Kumar's untitled film (AA04), produced by Rockline Venkatesh.

The action thriller starring Abishek Ambareesh, directed by Suri, is set to hit screens later than expected

'No one can stop good content from releasing in multiple languages'

says actor Prajwal Devaraj as he discusses Jathara, his first Pan-India project directed by Uday Nandavanam

A SHARADHAA

We had previously reported that Prajwal Devaraj is preparing for a Pan India project. The film has been titled Jathara and has now officially begun with a script pooja. Directed by Uday Nandanvanam, known for his film Sankarabhranam starring Nikhil Siddarth, the film is produced by Govardhan Reddy under Vardhaman Films and Lotus Entertainments, Jathara is a love story set in a rugged backdrop.

The makers have planned to release the film in five languages: Kannada, Hindi, Telugu, Malayalam, and Tamil. While they aim to begin shooting in August, they have also set the release date as Sankranti 2024. Though pan-Indian films have become a trend now, it is the first attemp for Prajwal, who has acted in over 35 films. When asked about his views on the pan-Indian popularity and his excitement to be part of a multilingual film, Prajwal shares, "Firstly, a universal theme defines a pan India subject. This is a basic step for any multilingual project. Alternatively, we have to stay true to our region like Kantara, which was never planned as a pan India film but gained global recognition. Jathara will be something similar. It is a film set in a village, and the story beautifully combines a love story, action, and a sports backdrop. The crux of the story is unique and all are carefully woven together by the director." he says.

Prajwal is no stranger to other regions, as his Kannada films are usually dubbed into other languages after release. However, why did this particular subject warrant a simultaneous release? "No one can stop good content from releasing in multiple languages if there is a demand for it. I was essentially looking for a good script and a passionate team that strives for something new, and I found that in director Uday and his subject. The thought process behind the story, written by Vasudev Reddy, has been developed well. The makers felt that this is a subject that can resonate with every audience, regardless of the language, and I embraced it after reading the script. We will be shooting in Kannada and Telugu and then dubbing and releasing it in other languages," says Prajwal, who is equally excited to make his debut in Telugu and other languages.

Prajwal's only preparation for this film is to attend a short workshop to familiarise himself with Telugu. "I do speak Telugu, but I still wanted a workshop so that I can feel comfortable speaking the language on camera," says Prajwal. While the casting process is ongoing, the film will also have a technical team from the local industry. Maasti is writing the dialogues in Kannada, Harish Komme is the editor. Bheems Ceciroleo, who composed music for Dhamaka, is handling the music, and cinematographer Sai Sriram will also be part of the project. On the Kannada front, Prajwal is eagerly awaiting the release of Gana, followed by Mafia, for which he has already completed shooting. "My other project with Mafia director, Lohit H is in the final phase of shooting, and we have just one week's schedule left," he concludes.

Firstly, a universal theme defines a pan India subject. This is a basic step for any multilingual project. Alternatively, we have to stay true to our region like Kantara, which was never planned as a pan India film but gained global recognition

Aggrasena is a director's film: Murugesh Kanappa

A commercial film, blended with experimentation, is set to release this week, and introduces new heroes and features senior actor Ramakrishna in a vital role

CE FEATURES

Murugesh Kanappa, an erstwhile associate of filmmaker A Harsha, is making his directorial debut with Aggrasena. The film, which has an experimental streak, marks the debut production venture of Mamatha Jayaramreddy. Aggrasena stars debutants Amar Viraj and Agastya Belagere. Speaking about Aggrasena, which is set to release on June 23, Murugesh says that the film is a family entertainer. "Apart from direction, I have also penned the story and screenplay of Aggrasena," says Murugesh, who has drawn inspiration from actual incidents observed within his family and friends, to write the film. "I call this a director-oriented film that gives utmost importance to the story."

In addition to the lead roles, the film stars Rachna Dashath and Bharti Hegde as the female leads. Aggrasena, which showcases two parallel stories, also highlights senior actor Ramakrishna, who plays a role with dual shades.

While Ram Reddy handles the cinematography, the music is composed by Thyagaraj MS. The cast of Aggrasena also includes Shivaraj K R Pete, Bharathi Hegde, the late Mohan Juneja, and Thanishka.

MIGHTIER THAN THE SWORD

KARTIK BHARDWAJ

In Atika Chohan's biography, whenever it is written, her life would probably be described as a mix of impulses and accidents. It was 2009, 14 years ago when she landed in Mumbai from Delhi to try her luck at screenwriting. "I just had ₹ 5000 in the bank," she reminisces over a video call with us, her ginger-coloured cat sprawling behind a couch's headrest. Back in Delhi, she was a literature student turned "accidental" journalist, penning articles on art and culture, eventually expanding to interviewing artists. "We had to come up with innovative ways to make those video interviews interesting," she shares. "During this process, before I even realised it, I was writing for the screen."

Journalism couldn't quench her thirst for expression for long, she wanted something more. It wasn't just a career shift, personal factors were at play too. "I grew up in a dysfunctional setup. I eloped at the age of 21 to marry my college senior. At 25 or 26, I was going through a divorce," she shares. "I had lived quite an eventful life at such a young age. It was the stuff for novels."

The screenwriter has been keeping busy lately. She shares writing credits with filmmaker Kanu Behl on his recent Cannes outing Agra, a surreal take on sexual repression in confined spaces. Up next is Janhvi Kapoor's Ulajh, billed as a patriotic thriller revolving around the world of Indian Foreign Services. There is also the relationship-drama KNOT which is being produced by British actor Dev Patel.

The screenwriter speaks to us about her upcoming projects, the writing life and how to keep one's ideology intact in the age of chest-thumping nationalism.
Excerpts:

Agra* made some waves at Cannes this year. You co-wrote the film with Kanu Behl, how did you help shape the story?
I brought some changes to the narrative and the structure. I think Kanu and I arrived at the idea of correlating space and sexuality. This is the story of a sexually repressed, perverted guy who works at a call centre. We needed a lot of female agency to act as a foil against him. The women needed to have dignity but also a sense of feistiness. I gave my inputs on making these women understand and use the resources of patriarchy to stay afloat in a male-centric world.

You have penned the dialogues for Ulajh, which recently commenced shooting. As a screenwriter how do you make interactions between people, from a world you have not experienced first-hand, sound natural?
I think more than the world, it is important to arrive at the humanity of a character. At its heart, Ulajh is a story of a woman in her late twenties. What challenges does she face? She is a product of a certain kind of childhood, a certain kind of socio-economic experience, a certain kind of privilege or the lack of it. Before going for dialogues, it's important to position your character in the world. She will have unique blind spots in her character conflating with her identity as an IFS officer. We have to dissect the human first.

In the current environment, where nationalism sells, when you are writing a patriotic-thriller have you ever been asked to write chest-thumping, nationalistic dialogues?
No, at least not for Ulajh. The film's politics is very clear in the sense that we can be patriots without knowing there is a bigger game at play that is beyond our comprehension.

For other projects?
Yes. Actually, I had to let go of a project I was very gung-ho about. After the first few drafts, the brief kind of hinted at making the film more nationalistic and I was extremely uncomfortable with that. It was during the time of Covid-19 and things were really tough politically in the country. It was a phase where everybody wanted to portray themselves as more and more nationalistic so that they don't get left behind. Now, I think the makers, in general, have come back to their senses.

Have you ever lost a project because of your politics?
There was a time when I was extremely vocal on Twitter. I didn't lose a project but I might have gotten less work. I think people need to understand that if I am secular and an idealist that doesn't mean I want India to lose and Pakistan to win. My brand of nationalism is not about going after Pakistan's blood.

This might sound a little philosophical, but where do your ideas come from?
I guess by living deeply. I keep my eyes and ears open. As I am aging, I am becoming less prone to judgement. When I hear sexist remarks on the news by our administrators, I feel more curious than angry. I think of where they are coming from, what history led us here. My ideas come from unpacking the life around me.
